4 MILLION TROOPS PLANNED FOR U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (INS)—A record-breaking $4,073,810,074 Army-Navy supply bill was reported to the House today by its appropriations committee, carrying funds to put 2,000,000 men on a combat basis and to create production facilities for a potential Army of 4,000,000 men.

Simultaneously, the committee made public its report on the huge measure, together with testimony taken from high staff officers, disclosing that the Army has completed plans for an expansion far beyond anything previously contemplated—the plans to go into effect on a moment's notice should the world situation make it necessary.

The possibility that the draft act may have to be expanded to provide additional troops also was raised.

"If the full program would be carried through, the draft act must be changed to authorize induction of more men," said Rep. Snyder (D.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Army appropriations subcommittee. "Any question of National Guard troops being kept in service for more than one year, however, is out."

So sweeping was the character of the bill that it appeared to extend even to the lease-lend program. As the published testimony revealed that William S. Knudsen, OPM director, believes big bombers may be rushed to Britain to aid in air attacks on Germany, the bill significantly carried funds for purchase of 3600 bombers, one-third of them in long-range, four-engine category.

The Army program was pictured as follows:

1—Army will reach 1,400,000 by June 30; funds are carried to provide critical equipment for 2,000,000 men, and $518,925,000 is specifically provided to create productive facilities for a second 2,000,000 men.

2—Army air strength increased to 21,600 planes, by providing money to complete present 18,000 plane program and adding 3600 bombers.

In the published testimony Rep. Collins (D.) of Mississippi asked Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, if any increase in the Army

3 Quit Slav Cabinet, Delay Bow to Axis In Belgrade Crisis

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 21 (AP)—A swelling tide of internal discontent, led by three anti-German cabinet ministers and other high officials, tonight forced probable postponement of the Yugoslav government's plans to align itself with the Axis Sunday at Vienna.

F. D. INSPECTS NEW AIR BASE—Headed for a ten-day fishing trip in southern waters, President Roosevelt stops off near Jacksonville (Fla.) to inspect the new $40,000,000 naval air base on the St. John's river. With the Chief Executive in his car are Capt. Charles P. Manson (center) and Rear Admiral McIntyre.

The three ministers—Serb leaders in this nation of mixed peoples—who resigned in protest against a crown council decision to yield to Germany, refused to remain in the cabinet even though Regent Prince Paul ordered them to do so.

The dissenters flatly declared they would have nothing more to do with the government.

Their stand, which the country learned via the grapevine method, added to the growing crisis over the government's acceptance of the Reich's demand that Yugoslavia align herself with Slovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, junior members of the anti-British accord.

SERB LEADER CALLS PARTY

A fourth cabinet member who voted against acquiescence to Germany was said to be planning to resign, and the minister to Russia, Gaverilovic, was said to have sent his resignation to Prince Paul.

One of the dissenters, Dr. Branko Cubrilovic, minister of agriculture and leader of the Serb peasant party, called meeting of his party chiefs to discuss the crisis.

Prince Paul summoned Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic to the White Palace for a conference at which he is reported to have told them their projected trip to Vienna starting tomorrow would have to be postponed while he attempted to reorganize the quarreling government.

He began meeting leaders of the

HITLER'S 2 MOST POWERFUL SHIPS ROAM U. S. WATERS, LONDON SAYS

By EARL REEVES

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 21—The German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, most powerful units of the Nazi navy, are roaming the western Atlantic, probably only 1500 miles from New York, it was announced in London today.

These two formidable vessels, each approximating 26,000 tons, are those alluded to by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his speech before the Pilgrims' Society on Tuesday.

At that time, Churchill emphasized the ever-increasing German menace to British shipping on the American side of the Atlantic.

German raiders, Churchill said in welcoming United States Ambassador John C. Winant, are now in action west of the 42d meridian. Even battle cruisers of the Nazi fleet, he said, are on duty in what are regarded as "American" waters.

The ships he referred to, the admiralty revealed today, are the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau. Actually they are battleships, but because of their tremendous speed of 27 knots, the British refer to them as battle cruisers.

German cruisers of the same names were sunk in the battle of the Falkland Islands on Dec. 8, 1914.

According to British claims, the Scharnhorst was damaged in a clash with the British battle cruiser Renown off Narvik, Norway, on April 11. Obviously, this damage now has been repaired.

German announcements state both the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau participated in the battle last June in which the British aircraft carrier Glorious was sunk.

On frequent occasions, both of these heavily armored ships have been reported at various points many thousands of miles from their home base. One or the other has been reported in action off South America and in the Indian Ocean.

Both German ships were laid down in 1936. With 12-inch armor amidships and three to four-inch armor at the stern, they carry nine 11-inch guns, 12 5.9-inch guns and 30 anti-aircraft rifles of varying caliber.

In addition, each carries four airplanes, sent off by means of catapults. Neither had torpedo tubes at the time of construction.

Jane's Fighting Ships lists their speed at 27 knots, but according to military experts this pace was exceeded considerably during trials and they probably are as fast as any vessels in the British navy.

Efforts to obtain information from the admiralty as to whether either vessel has been actually in action against British shipping were unavailing. It was ascertained, however, that British warships or merchantmen had been in sufficiently close contact with them to permit today's definite identification.

GERMAN BATTLESHIP SCHARNHORST

NAZI WARSHIP GNEISENAU

Lyons, Mannos Jailed 5-6 Years; Mayor Out

Mayor John W. Lyons of Cambridge and his former campaign manager, Paul Mannos, received jail and prison sentences totalling 5 to 6 years today on their bribery convictions—and Lyons ceased to function as chief executive of the city.

In Middlesex Superior Court, Judge Harold P. Williams sentenced each defendant to two years in the House of Correction on the indictment charging them with conspiracy to accept gratuities.

On four indictments, containing a total of 42 counts of bribery, the court sentenced them to three to four years in State Prison for each indictment.

The House of Correction sentence of two years is to be served first by the men, then they must start on their State Prison sentences of three to four years each.

Thus the actual sentences for each man total five to six years. Both Lyons and Mannos took the sentences calmly and the general opinion among spectators in the courtroom was that conferences held prior to the sentencing had given the defendants an inkling of what to expect.

CALLS CRIMES SERIOUS
When the case finally was called, Dist. Atty. Bradford recommended the maximum House of Correction sentence of two years for each defendant on the conviction of conspiracy.

Regarding the State Prison penalties on the indictments charging requesting and accepting bribes, Bradford said she felt the minimum of two and one-half years was not enough but he did not care to suggest any exact sentence here. "I have given these cases much thought," he told the court. "The crimes are most serious, and because of their serious nature and consequences involved, I recommend State Prison sentences."

Mayor Lyons' counsel, Atty. Francis T. Leahy, then made a plea for his client in the crowded courtroom, whose spectators included five members of the jury which had convicted the defendants.

SAYS BRIBES VOLUNTARY
Leahy asked the court to bear in mind that these were not "bold acts" or "attempted shakedowns." The evidence itself, said Leahy, showed the architects went in Mannos and voluntarily offered to pay him for obtaining city jobs.

"Under those circumstances," said counsel, "I can't conceive of any state Prison sentence being imposed. For acts of a lesser type there should be a shorter term."

Then Mannos' counsel, Herbert F. Callahan, spoke for the Brookline contractor, reminding the court Mannos was a married man, a father and a steady worker. The lawyer told how Mannos had become interested in politics and had spent his own time and money in aiding Mayor Lyons' election.

BRIBE METHOD IN USE
Mannos had no criminal record, Callahan pointed out, and he declared:

"He was a business man who thought it was all right to take commissions." Conviction of the two men, said Callahan, is a warning to all architects and office-holders that "this

GIRL, 4, TELLS HOW STEPMA BEAT HER

CHICAGO, March 21 (INS)—A stepmother heard her 4-year-old stepdaughter accuse her in court of administering such a beating that the child suffered a skull fracture, a leg fracture and other injuries that left her entire right side paralyzed.

The child is blue-eyed curly-haired Theresa Pugnature, who was carried to the witness stand by a woman bailiff. The stepmother is Mrs. Isabel Pugnature, 29 years old, the second wife of Frank Pugnature.

The little girl's testimony was heard at the conclusion of the state's case against the defendant, who is accused of contributing to the dependency of a minor.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS
When Theresa was brought to the stand she was questioned by Asst. State's Atty. Ted Schlake:

Q—What is your name? A—You don't know me because I'm wearing pink ribbons in my hair and pink stockings.

Q—But what is your name? A—Theresa, and I'm four years old.

Q—Do you know what happens when you don't tell the truth? A—Yes, bad girls go down where the devils are (this in an awed voice). When you tell the truth you go up.

Q—Can you tell us what happened Jan. 15? A—Well, Belle (her father's name for Isabel, the stepmother) hit me.

Q—What with? A—With a stick with nails in it. Not nails like in my fingers, but nails like this (she made her tiny hand into a clenched claw). She hit me lots of times, then she broke my leg.

AWOKE IN HOSPITAL
Q—What happened then? A—I don't remember until I came to in the hospital and saw all the pretty nurses. There weren't any toys, but they brought me my dollies.

Mrs. Pugnature said: "Frank's mother never did like me, and she didn't want me to marry him. That's what's behind all this—his mother."

Frequently during her married life she carried black eyes administered by her husband, Mrs. Mary E. Jollimore, of Norwell st., Dorchester, testified today in Suffolk Probate Court in winning a divorce from Elliott G. Jollimore, former Dorchester theater employee.

In her uncontested suit before Judge Robert Gardiner Wilson she said that she married Jollimore on Dec. 31, 1933, and they lived together until July 10, 1940. Custody of three children, Mary seven; Carroll, six, and Natalia, three, was given to Mrs. Jollimore.

An uncontested divorce was also granted by Judge Wilson to Mrs. Florence LaFleur of Berkeley ave., Roslindale, after she had testified that Edward LaFleur of Roxbury deserted her two months and five days after their marriage in Baldwinville on Aug. 13, 1937. LaFleur left her to go job-hunting, she testified, and the next she heard from him was a letter telling her to forget the matter.

FILMSTRESS
Ginger Rogers, recently presented with the Academy award as 1940's outstanding actress, today had obtained a final decree of divorce from Actor Lew Ayres in Los Angeles. In securing an interlocutory decree a year ago, Miss Rogers testified that Ayres had deserted her. They were wed in November, 1934 and separated in May, 1936.

STOLEN CAR CRASHES, TWO YOUTHS INJURED

Crushed in the wreckage of an auto which rammed an Avon house at the climax of a 10-mile stolen car chase, two Roxbury youths were under police guard today at Brockton Hospital, both in a critical condition.

Also hurt in the crash was a girl companion of the pair, Miss Mary Swartz, 23, of Castlegate rd., Roxbury, treated at the same hospital for numerous cuts and bruises. The two boys, both 17, were listed by hospital officials as Vartikis Vartanian of Quincy at, Roxbury, and Albert Eramian, Kensington at, Roxbury. Each was unconscious for several hours after the crash, and due to their condition police were still unable to question them today.

The trio were seen riding along Randolph ave., Milton, in a New Jersey auto which police said was stolen in the Back Bay three days ago.

FLEEING CAR SKIDS
Officer Fred Philmore of the Blue Hills Metropolitan station, driving alone in a cruiser, motioned them to stop, but instead the machine spurred ahead. Soon each machine was rushing along Route 28 toward Brockton at a rate of 90 miles an hour.

Patrolman Albert Macaulay of the Randolph police had to jump for his life when the chase roared through the center of that town. Randolph and Avon officers quickly joined the pursuit.

Skidding in East Main st., Avon, the fugitive car plunged over two snow drifts and smashed into the home of John Kaleshian.

FAMILY SHAKEN UP
The entire house was moved slightly, a section of porch torn away, and members of the family violently shaken in their beds. The injured youths, both unconscious and suffering fractured skulls, were placed on the danger list at Brockton Hospital.

Miss Swartz, after receiving first aid, was taken to her home in Roxbury. Police said she had accepted a ride with the youths and was an innocent victim of the chase and crash, not knowing the car was a stolen machine.

Flier Bails Out, Watchers Hurt
SOUTH HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., March 21 (AP)—An Army pilot bailed out 3000 feet above this Long Island town today when his pursuit plane developed motor trouble—with the result that two persons who watched him drift down suffered more than the pilot.

The pilot, Lieut. Craven C. Rogers, aide to Brig. Gen. John C. McDonnell, commander of the 7th Pursuit Plane Wing at Mitchell Field, landed in a clump of trees. The plane crashed near the home of William P. Cain, 70, and set fire to the house. Cain and his wife suffered heart attacks and were placed under a doctor's care. Rogers was taken to a hospital with a shoulder injury.

Duce's Ex-Aide Killed in Battle
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 21 (AP)—Reports reaching Bitol, Yugoslavia, today said Roberto Farinacci, former secretary of the Fascist party, had been killed while leading his battalion of Blackshirts over the top in Albania.

These reports said the extremist Fascist met his death in the midst of furious hand-to-hand fighting around Tepeleni.

RUIN OF BOSTON PORT SEEN IN SEAWAY PLAN

Like a tidal wave, New England's opposition against the proposed St. Lawrence waterway rolled toward Washington today, with new groups, including the Boston Chamber of Commerce, joining in the battle.

It was an old fight for the Chamber of Commerce, for it had battled previous attempts of President Roosevelt to again win approval of the huge project before Congress.

From Managing Director D. M. Lining of the chamber came an announcement of plans to reorganize its opposition on the grounds the proposed electric power service is "economically unjustified."

The United States and Canada have signed the hydro-power and navigation agreement, but a majority of both branches of Congress must ratify the State Department's action before it becomes effective.

Under the proposal, this nation and Canada would jointly develop the St. Lawrence to provide passage of ocean liners into the Great Lakes.

RUIN FOR HUB PORT

While other New England groups mapped battle plans against the initial appropriation of $427,000,000 estimated by the Administration, Horter Marlor, head of the Foreign Commerce Club of the Port of Boston, said the project would mean ruin for the Port of Boston.

Marlor, whose club includes membership from all the big American and foreign steamship lines, railway operators and other waterfront interests, stated:

"The port of Boston has had a number of serious setbacks in its history, but the construction and operation of the St. Lawrence seaway will probably prove its costliest.

"We proudly regard this great port as the gateway of New England and it will be a very sorry fate indeed when it swings empty half the year.

FIERS NEED REPAIR

"Opening of a St. Lawrence sea route will mean just that for this port. For the five months of the year when the seaway is navigable Boston will have to be satisfied with chiefly local business which cannot possibly produce the necessary revenue to run this great terminus.

"Right now our piers are in bad shape for lack of repairs. The present revenues hardly produce enough financial surplus to drive a nail into a pier plank.

"We don't want to think of what will happen when we conduct our business on a seven months' program. I do not claim to be a defense expert at this time. Our club is lending its support in opposition."

WHITE LINES UP FORCES

In Washington also, Sen. White of Maine lined up opposition to the "waterways gold brick."

"I don't see any connection between the present defense program and this project," Sen. White declared. "I'll have to be shown before they can hook my vote on it."

Walsh had no comment to make yesterday, but it was recalled that when he voted against the treaty which would have launched the project as an "economy measure" of President Roosevelt in 1934 he labeled it as "unsound" and "the Great Delusion."

House Puts Ban On Foreign Food

WASHINGTON, March 21 (INS)

—Tard on the heels of Vice President's failure to break a tie on the Argentine beef amendment in the Senate, the powerful House Appropriation Committee today aimed a new blow at purchase of food outside the United States.

I wrote into the fifth supplemental national defense bill a provision prohibiting purchase of foodstuffs outside of the U. S. If they can be bought in this country.

Rep. Scrugham (D.) of Nevada, who forced inclusion of such a provision in the naval supply bill, offered the amendment to the new defense measure.

Yesterday, the Administration foms—eager to carry out President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy—attempted to obtain a provision in a Senate bill to let the navy purchase Argentine beef but failed on a 50-50 tie vote.

Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rastalini of Portland st., Cambridge, had just bought his marbles and lollipop and was at the corner of Portland and Cambridge sts., Cambridge, when the accident happened.

Group in India Drops Move for Partition

NEW DELHI, India, March 21 (AP) — Mohammed Ali Jinnah, President of the potent all-India Muslim League, said today the league was prepared to drop for the duration of the war its demand for partition of India and would cooperate in forming a popular government within the framework of India's present constitution.

F. D. SENDS CONGRESS TEXT OF SEAWAY PACT

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent to Congress today the text of an agreement by which the United States and Canada propose to develop the St. Lawrence waterway-power project, estimated eventually to cost more than $500,000,000.

Deep sea navigation between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic and provision for 2,200,000 new hydro-electric horsepower for the two countries are contemplated.

The agreement, closely resembling a treaty which the United States Senate failed to ratify by the necessary two-thirds vote in 1934, is subject to approval of Congress and the Canadian Parliament. Only a majority vote would be required this time in the American Congress.

NEW DAMS PLANNED

Mr. Roosevelt transmitted the agreement with a brief accompanying message "for the information of the Congress" and said he would "request introduction in due course, of legislation designed to make this agreement effective."

The President explained that the agreement provides "for the construction of dams and power works in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river, and providing for completion of the essential links in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway when the governments of the United States and Canada agree that circumstances require it."

AGREE ON EXPENSES

A State Department summary of the agreement said that a preceding exchange of notes between the two governments showed the project was "regarded as directly associated with both the power supply and shipbuilding phases of our national defense program, including the plan for defense of the Western Hemisphere and the determination to supply all possible aid to Great Britain, the members of the British commonwealth, and their allies."

The immediate project contemplated is in the International Rapids sections of the St. Lawrence river. The cost of this is estimated at $250,170,000.

Counterbalancing Canadian expenditures already made on the Welland Canal link in the deep waterway, the United States agrees to provide funds for all the International Rapids work "except machinery and equipment for the development of power and works required for rehabilitation on the Canadian side of the boundary."

Major Carried Wife's Token For Slain Earl

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, March 21 (AP)—Police testified today that Maj. Sir Henry John Deives Broughton, charged with killing the Earl of Erroll, appeared at the police station a few hours after the death with a handkerchief from Lady Broughton and requested, on her behalf, that it be placed on the dead man's breast.

The testimony came in a continuation of a preliminary hearing on a charge that Broughton shot the peer on a country road Jan. 20 in a fit of jealousy.

A police inspector said the major was extremely shaky and his hands were quivering.

His testimony included a statement from the major that he returned home at 1:15 a. m. on Jan. 24 and that Lady Broughton and Lord Erroll arrived 15 minutes later.

"Erroll stayed 10 minutes, but I did not see him as I had retired to my bedroom," Broughton was quoted.

Career Girls' Fashion Show Sets Pace for Spring Styles

Dame Fashion defied the weatherman as the E. T. Slattery Co. presented a 'Career Girls' spring style show.

Some 750 career girls witnessed the fashion extravaganza, which touched on every sartorial phase of a career girl's life—from the busy office, to dinner dates, country week-ends, important evenings and up to her big moment—marriage.

Special emphasis was given the revival of the Gibson Girl costume—the tailored blouse and slim skirt fashions destined to be seen all around the town this spring on the smart women.

Many dresses shown had matching flower leis, and were tropical in feeling. Evening dresses leaned toward the romantic with billowy skirts from tiny waistlines, many coquettishly revealing a contrast petticoat.

"SHIRTWAIST LOOK"

Coats were soft in silhouette, many with that new "shirtwaist look." One in brilliant red with soft gathered bodice met great approval. Capes were tossed casually over many a costume and gave a new look of spring.

Slacks were shown in many variations. For lounging and sports the hand detailed slack with checked riding coat and contrast weat was loudly applauded.

One highlight was the parade of American Girl fashions, exclusive with the E. T. Slattery Co. Among these were a slim middy dress with accordion pleat skirt, a soft shouldered two-button reefer, a tri-color dress with cowboy fringe and a wide sash as variable as a turban, a two-piece shepherd checked dress with sailor top and a little girl pleat skirt, a new slack suit with tapered trous, and a neat as a pin suit with young fitted jacket and emblem buttons.

These costumes were priced within the range of the average working girl's budget.

ALL-WHITE WEDDING

Climax of the show was an all-white wedding dress. The bride was Spanish in appearance. White starched lace fell in three tiers from her long, snug fitted bodice.

The news was in the length; it just touched the floor all around. On her hair she wore a matching mantilla veil.

Her attendant, in white satin bodice with yards of flowing tulle skirt, wore a cluster of flowers in her hair.

Miss Harriet Wilinsky of the E. T. Slattery Co. was the commentator and the show was under the direction of Miss Ernestine Towne of the Shawmut Bank Club.

The models included Miss Beatrice Brennan, Mildred Mathews, Helen Kenna, Jean Van Zandt, Audrey Sullivan, Peggy Caldwell, Barbara Darcey, Bernice Nichols, Norma Starkey, Mary Emma Braden, Mildred Nimblett and Edna May Marshall.

'Fire' Proves to Be Only Escaped Steam

F. D. Held in Port By Stiff Wind

ABOARD U. S. S. BENSON, Port Everglades, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The yacht Potomac, on which President Roosevelt is waiting to begin a fishing cruise, moved out into the harbor this morning to anchor and await weather reports before proceeding to sea.

The yacht left the dock to make way for the freight ferry Estrada Palma, in whose slip the Potomac was tied. The ferry operates between here and Havana.

The Potomac moved around the end of the pier and anchored in the harbor about 100 yards from where the German freighter Arauca has been docked since December, 1939. Crew members under guard, stayed below.

A strong off-shore wind and choppy seas combined to keep the Potomac here over night. The wind had abated considerably this morning.

Mr. Roosevelt boarded the White House yacht shortly before dusk last night, prepared to put out to sea immediately for a week or ten days of rest and fishing; but upon receiving word the open sea was none too smooth, he decided to hold the Potomac and her escort destroyer, the Benson, in port until the weather cleared somewhat.

MAN KILLED BY HARVARD BOY'S AUTO

Hurting over a sidewalk after a collision with another auto, a Harvard student's car landed upside down and crushed a pedestrian to death within sight of the victim's home in Cambridge today.

Caught without warning, so suddenly did the tragedy occur, the victim had no chance, police said. He was identified several hours later as Cosmo Petrillo, 58, of Portland st., Cambridge.

Officer said he apparently had stopped, while walking home from work in a nearby rubber factory, at the sound of the crash.

One machine, operated by Robert E. Lincoln, 18, of Wilmington, Del., Harvard freshman, rolled over three times for a distance of 100 feet, bounced into the air as it struck the edge of the sidewalk and came down directly on Petrillo.

Firemen and police rushed to the scene, near Kendall sq., and were forced to cut Lincoln from the wreckage of his overturned auto. It was while removing the student that rescuers discovered Petrillo's body, pinned beneath the machine.

Neither Lincoln nor the driver of the second auto, identified by police as Grant J. MacDonald, Jr., 28, of Circuit st., Roxbury, was injured beyond receiving a severe shaking up.

MacDonald was in a dazed condition, police said, for several minutes after the crash, while Lincoln was unharmed.

Arraigned later in Cambridge court on identical charges of driving so as to endanger and manslaughter, young Lincoln and MacDonald both pleaded not guilty and were released pending a hearing March 31.

COULEE DAM READY TO LOAD POWER LINES

GRAND COULEE, Wash., March 21 (AP)—Grand Coulee dam—seven years a-building and the biggest thing ever made by man—will go to work tomorrow.

In simple ceremonies, switches will be thrown between 4 and 4:30 p. m., Boston time, to start water wheels of two 10,000-horsepower turbines churning the energy of falling water into the first electric power from this project.

As the first Grand Coulee electricity energizes the 235-mile transmission line to Bonneville, there will come into being one of the largest integrated power systems in the West.

STREAM OF POWER

From Bonneville project, on the lower Columbia river, this Grand Coulee energy (a reduced load of 150,000 volts) will be switched over the 40-mile line to the Federal Power Administration's substation in Vancouver, Wash.

There it will become part of the stream of power for the plants of the Aluminum Company of America, nearby; the Pacific Carbide and Alloys Co., at Portland, and homes, farms and other industries served by Bonneville in western Washington and Oregon.

Each step will be broadcast over a national radio network.

The two generators in the "west" powerhouse at the dam would be deemed large almost anywhere else. Each is 13 feet high, 15 feet in diameter and each weighs 88 tons.

88-TON INFANTS

But they and a third of the same size to be set up are infants along-side the 18 108,000-kilowatt machines to be installed. These turbines, the world's largest waterwheel generators, each will produce 30 per cent more power than is produced by any other water wheel generator in existence.

It took 142,224,000 man-hours to bring the Grand Coulee project to its present status. Nearly two-thirds was scattered through more than 40 states.

550 FEET HIGH

The dam contains enough concrete (11,250,000 cubic yards) to pave two 16-foot roadways from coast to coast. The dam is 3000 feet long at its base, 4300 feet at its crest. It tapers from a width of 500 feet at its base to 30 feet. Its height above lowest bedrock is 550 feet.

Behind the dam there will be an 82,000 acre storage reservoir 151 miles long, extending to the Canadian line, containing 10,000,000 acre feet of water—two months' average flow of the Columbia.

When completed, the project will represent a total investment of $435,734,000.

Youth Inflated With Air Hose; 2 Held in Prank

EAST BROOKFIELD, March 21 (AP)—Victim of a prank in which he was blown up by the application of an air hose to his body, Edgar A. Latour, 18, of 52 Grove st., Spencer, was rushed to Worcester City Hospital from the MacLane Hat Shop today to undergo an emergency operation. His name was placed on the danger list.

State police of Brookfield Barracks arrested Stanley P. Kowalski, 19, of Main st., East Brookfield, and Roger Ethier, 19, of Main st., Spencer, and charged them with assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with the prank.

Police said one of the men applied the air hose, carrying 80 pounds pressure, while the other turned the valve, allowing the compressed air to enter the victim's body, as he slept on a bench in the hot shop. The men were working on the night shift.

Brown Ordered To Pay Brown

The old question "What's in a name?" confronted Judge Joseph T. Zottoli in municipal court today when Frank Brown, owner of a Merrimac st. book bindery, was charged with failure to pay Frank Brown of Revere, an employee, $102 in overdue wages.

When Brown the employee was asked by the judge why he had waited since last summer to sue Brown the boss, the complainant said:

"He gave me a break years ago, so I tried to give him a break. He gave me my first job in Boston."

John F. McManus of the State Board of Labor and Industries told the court that Brown the employer was an old offender and was underpaying other employees who were afraid to complain.

In his own defense, Brown said

Girl Forgets Her Male Attire and Hitch-Hike Ends

CHICAGO, March 21 (INS).—One little mistake sent 15-year-old Catherine McLaughlin to the Chicago juvenile home today instead of to a rendezvous with adventure on the open road.

The girl dressed herself in boy's clothing preparatory, she said, to leaving home on a hitch-hike trip. Her mistake was to enter a ladies' lounge in the male attire.

Attendants called police.

he intended to pay Brown, but business had been poor. Judge Zottoli gave him a suspended jail term of one year and placed him on probation until next Sept. 1. In the meantime he must pay the wages owed.

Senate Group OK's 7 Billion Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee approved without change today the administration's Aid-to-Britain bill.

Mexico Forms Council For National Defense

MEXICO CITY, March 21 (AP).—Speedy organization of a Mexican and industrial commission similar to the Council of National Defense in the United States was announced today by War Minister Gen. Pablo Macias.

Industry in Mexico will be placed on a war-time basis and 50 airplanes will be acquired from the United States for training and patrol flights.

The bill, already passed by the House, is expected to receive prompt approval from the full Senate appropriations committee. It will be taken up in the Senate Monday, and some leaders forecast passage without major change by Monday night.

William S. Knudsen assured senators today that the full amount of the fund would be committed during the fiscal year starting July 1.

After testifying for more than an hour at a closed session of the Senate appropriations committee, the director general of defense production said his testimony dealt largely with matters previously presented at a similar House hearing.

"We may not be able to spend the entire $7,000,000,000 in the year but we will make commitments for it," Knudsen told reporters waiting outside the committee room.

"We already have our plans for expansion well underway," he added.

Racing Inspector Ward Is Injured

Lacerations about the left side of the forehead were suffered today by James H. Ward, 61, Massachusetts Racing Commission inspector, when he was thrown forward against the partition of the cub in which he was riding when the driver quickly applied the brakes to avoid striking another car.

Ward was removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital from the accident scene at the corner of State and Broad sts. After treatment, he went to his Westland ave., Back Bay, home.

Banks to Mobilize For Defense Financing

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 21 (AP).—The nation's 15,000 banks will support fully the government's plans for national defense financing, P. D. Houston, president of the American Bankers Ass'n, said today in an address before an A. B. A. regional conference.

Houston said the banks were placing their services at the disposal of the Treasury Department by offering aid in mobilizing the nation's financial strength and in distributing the Treasury's new defense saving securities.

Volunteers Sought For Negro Air Unit

ACTON PLANT WRECKED BY BLAST

ACTON, March 21 — Exploding with a report heard 15 miles away today a black powder mixing plant of the American Cyanamid & Chemical Corp. located here was completely demolished.

Company officials explained no one was hurt in the blast which caused between $400 and $500 damage and aroused persons as far away as Sudbury.

Because safety regulations provided for starting the mixing machinery in the 10 by 15-foot plant by remote control no workmen were nearby.

It was explained at offices of the concern the motor supplying power for the mixing machines were located about 150 feet from the plant behind a barricade.

Cause of the blast remained undetermined since the small structure was completely demolished. It was believed it might have resulted from static electricity or a small piece of metal which became accidentally mixed with the powder.

Deluged with calls from alarmed residents in the area State Police dispatched officers to the scene. However, they turned back at the gate when informed no workmen had been injured.

The company has been on a 24-hour schedule in recent months filling national defense contracts. F. Allen Hall, superintendent, was summoned from his home following the blast.

Boy Has 'Hi' Tune With a Brookline Cop

Far be it for Brookline police to object to giving a little help now and then to one citizen and another—but when the citizen turns out to be a whimsical little boy of seven enough is too much.

Lieut. James Lacey was on the desk in Brookline police headquarters.

"Brookline police headquarters, Lieut. Lacey," said the lieutenant. There was a slight pause.

"Hi," said a voice. The lieutenant was taken a little aback.

"Hello," he said. "Who's this?" There was another little pause.

"Hi," said the voice.

The lieutenant began to get the idea the conversation was getting nowhere, especially when every sentence he spoke was answered with a bright:

"Hi."

A courteous man, the lieutenant carried the conversation through. That was the first talk carried on with that voice. On the seventh call Lieut. Lacey began to feel the situation was getting out of hand. He had the call traced and sent Sergt. Alex Minnis to the address.

At 125 Park st., Sergt. Minnis found seven-year-old Martin Myers sitting at the phone table, receiver in hand, legs crossed, in process of calling the police again. Mother Ethel Myers was out shopping.

The sergeant warned the youngster against making any more calls unless he really needed the police.

"Hi," said the boy.

10 Judge Fears Killing, Sends Man to Jail

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1941

Declaring that he did not want to be responsible for "turning this man loose on the streets so he can kill someone," Judge Frankland W. L. Miles revoked suspension of a sentence over Morris Shane, 30, of Devon st., Roxbury, when Shane appeared in Roxbury court today.

Shane, who has led a stormy life since last Oct. 12, was sent to Deer Island to serve a year for assault and battery on his father-in-law; six months for the same charge involving his wife, and a month for malicious destruction of property.

In September, 1939, Mrs. Helen Shane was granted a divorce in Suffolk Probate Court on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment and was given custody of her 5½-year-old son, Edward.

In March, 1940, Shane was enjoined by Judge William M. Frest from seeing his wife after Mrs. Shane said he came to her home in the middle of February while she was away and had taken the baby, without clothing, out into the below-zero temperature and driven off with him.

On October 12, it was testified, Shane broke into his wife's home, smashing a door, and beat his father-in-law, Hyman Shoreman, and his wife.

At that time he stood trial in Roxbury court and shouted to Judge Miles.

"My in-laws are dictators! This is a free country! I have the right to see my baby!" "You're your own worst enemy," Judge Miles said then, and passed the sentences but suspended them.

Last Feb. 16, Atty. Sam Witkin, counsel for Mrs. Shane said today, Shane again broke into his wife's house, raged about the rooms, finally dashed into the bedroom and drank a bottle of poison.

"He was taken to City Hospital and recovered," Witkin said. "He has these people frightened to death."

"The last time he was here," said Judge Miles, "I sent him to the Boston State Hospital to see if he was sane. As he was going out the door he threatened me, and I was going to old him for contempt. But I thought I'd see if he was sane."

"This fellow seems to me a first class nuisance. He's a hopeless creature, and I'm going to see if the sea breezes at Deer Island will cool him off. I'm not going to have the responsibility of turning him onto the streets to kill someone."

The Legislature's committee on agriculture recommended passage today of a bill to permit the exhibition of horses with docked tails.

The rules committee today scheduled a hearing for Thursday on the question of admitting a measure which would permit the State to take advantage of $190,000 in federal funds available for the construction of rural electric lines in the Bay State's farm areas.

Wheat Ships for France to Sail

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—An agreement that will pass two shiploads of American wheat through the British blockade for unoccupied France is expected to be announced within the next few days. It was learned today, after weeks of involved negotiations between the American, British and French governments.

The wheat—an American gift to the people of unoccupied France—is to be shipped in two French vessels now tied up in ports here and distributed in France by the American Red Cross.

While no official announcement has been made, it was understood that the British have given sympathetic consideration to the proposal—both as an emergency act and as a "trial shipment"—and final approval awaits only formal Franco-British agreement on conditions governing the disposition of the supplies abroad.

France has announced her readiness to give any guarantee that the food shipments would be consumed entirely by the 16,000,000 persons in areas not under German control. If the disposition of the two "test" shiploads satisfy Britain on the subject it was believed that chances would be enhanced for an agreement permitting regular shipments.

The United States is acting as a "friendly intermediary" in the diplomatic negotiations since there are now no direct diplomatic relations between Britain and France.

Pig's Knuckles,
So Hogg Has No
Fight in Court

FORT WAYNE, Ind., March 21 (AP)—Artemus Knuckles sued in justice of the peace court to get back a pig that had wandered to a neighbor's farm and been castrated.

His lawyer was David Hogg. Hogg cited a decision in a like case given by Sullivan Circuit Judge Martin L. Pigg.

Pig's decree was based on an opinion of Indiana Supreme Court Judge John G. Berkshtre. But Justice William Moberly didn't have to rule on the question: was the pig Knuckles'?

Knuckles and neighbor settled the case out of court. Knuckles paid $5 for the hog's keep and the neighbor gave him his hog back.

Connolly Loses Fight On Bar Sift

One more court move was lost today by John Patrick Connolly, resigned clerk of Suffolk superior civil court, who is awaiting a Supreme Court decision on his appeal from a 3-to-4-year sentence for receiving gratuities from employees.

In this same court, Justice James J. Ronan refused a request by Connolly for permission to file a motion to strike his name from a Boston Bar Ass'n petition seeking an investigation of lawyers mentioned in the Connolly investigation.

Connolly protested at the hearing today he is the only such name mentioned in the Bar Ass'n's petition.

On April 12, 1940, the Supreme Court appointed a commissioner, Edward Ryan, to hear evidence as a result of the petition, with Reuben L. Lurie as special investigator.

"Here this matter stands for 11 months," complained Connolly today before Justice Ronan, "and they say in effect, 'Connolly, you are corrupt.' What can I do about it?"

Justice Ronan replied: "I don't see how you can object to the form of this petition after a single justice has acted and appointed a commissioner."

Connolly: "Well, may I be granted permission to file a motion requesting that the commissioner hear evidence or dismise this petition?"

He said that a month ago, when he went into municipal court seeking complaints against employees of his former office for alleged payment of gratuities, Lurie took the stand against him and said he had not presented evidence and would not until he got "good and ready."

MARTIN READY TO QUIT AS G.O.P. CHIEF

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21 (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R.) of Massachusetts, said today on his arrival for a two-day Republican leaders' conference he would resign as GOP national chairman Monday and "then it will be up to the committee to act."

Rep. Martin, accompanied by Franklin Waltman, publicity director for the national committee, came from Washington for the party which is expected to bring together state chairmen and other leaders from 39 states, mostly mid-western.

National committee members met Monday in Washington, and informed Indiana sources said they probably would turn down Martin's resignation.

Asked whether a salaried assistant to the chairman would be selected next week, Rep. Martin expressed belief "nothing will be done on that for at least some time."

He explained: "If a new chairman is chosen he won't be thinking much about it."

The Massachusetts congressman does not receive pay as head of the GOP national organization.

Rep. Martin said he would "talk over with leaders a number of organization problems." He added: "We'll discuss the prospects for the 1942 campaign."

Score of First Employees Still On American

More than a score of employees of the Boston Evening American today began their 38th year of work on the paper as the American itself marked its 37th birthday anniversary.

Three men in the pressroom who started the press on the American's first run back on March 21, 1904, stood at their old places today and again started the machines; John H. Dodd, Robert W. Goodhue and Thomas S. Rowlett, one of the senior men of the entire Hearst service.

These men, who with members of other departments—the stereotyping, composing and mailing—had seen literally billions of Boston Americans pass before their eyes, reminisced of the old presses that turned out 24,000 papers an hour, as compared with the present-day presses printing more than 40,000 an hour.

Fall River Asks Funds for Dock

WASHINGTON, March 21—Municipal officials of Fall River, Mass., were in the capital today seeking a $400,000 grant from the Department of Commerce for enlargement of the Fall River municipal dock made necessary by new defense industries there.

In the Fall River party were Mayor Alexander Murray, City Councilor Douglas Richardson, former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly, Boston member of the Fall River Finance Commission, and Lloyd Dunn, industrial agent for the city.

The money desired would be used partially to dredge the channel to the Fall River municipal dock. New industries engaged in defense work have moved into the area from Rhode Island, New York and New Jersey and a further industrial boom is looked for in Fall River if the emissaries secure the improvements.

WRIGHT FIELD STRIKE ENDS, AIDS DEFENSE

DAYTON, O., March 21 (AP)—In the avowed interests of national defense, an AFL leader today terminated a 17-day strike that had paralyzed work on an essential $3,900,000 expansion program at Wright Field, the Army air corps' huge testing laboratory.

John Breidenbach, president of the Dayton Central Labor Union (A. F. of L.), informed Col. Lester Miller, field commandant, that 400 men who left their jobs March 4 would return to work Monday alongside five CIO electricians employed by the Penner Construction Co.

Col. Miller described settlement of the dispute "as a fine American act where any thought of personal and factional differences has been set aside for the good of the entire nation."

Breidenbach called the strike after the War Department ordered the CIO men back to work following a previous AFL walkout late in January. The first strike ended after two days when work of the CIO men was suspended temporarily.

CIO-Strike Extended To Army Truck Plant

OAKLAND, Cal., March 21 (AP)—The CIO strike against Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants here extended today to the General Motors truck factor shortly before union and company officials were scheduled to meet in an effort to settle the original dispute.

Four hundred men walked out of the truck plant, halting production of army trucks. In the original strike, now in its fourth day, 1750 men were out.

Company officials said the men at the truck plant refused to use materials brought in.

Ford Rift With CIO Nears End

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator, announced today that prospects for an amicable adjustment of the dispute between the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and the Ford Motor Co. have been greatly enhanced by mediation conferences of the past few weeks.

Dewey indicated that steps taken by the Ford Co. and the National Labor Relations Board had relieved the tension between the union and the company since the union declared its "intent to strike" at the Rouge and Lincoln plants here.

The Ford company employs approximately 100,000 workers in the Detroit area and has $154,000,000 worth of defense contracts.

Dewey said the company had re-employed "most" of the 1000 Rouge plant employees that the UAW-CIO had charged were dismissed for union activity over a period of the past seven months.

Bus Strike End Cheered in N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Wildly cheering members of the Transport Workers' Union (CIO) today ratified an agreement ending the strike of 3500 bus drivers and maintenance men which since March 10 has tied up routes of two bus companies serving 900,000 riders daily.

They booned every mention of Mayor La Guardia's name as well as those of bus company officials, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and two members of the mayor's fact-finding committee which effected the agreement last night at City Hall. The plan provides that the union's demand for wage boosts be arbitrated.

Harry Sacher, union counsel, said the strike, greatest transportation tie-up in New York city in 15 years, was merely "a curtain raiser" for the "fight next June for new subway contracts."

CASH SOUGHT FOR U. S. ARMY OF 4 MILLION

2,800,000 men—double the present projected size is contemplated. "Not contemplated, sir," replied Gen. Marshall. "We have plans for such an expansion if further expansion is necessary."

The committee in its report, explained that funds are provided to provide equipment and supplies for 2,000,000 men for one year, with provision being made for productive facilities for a second 2,000,000. No details were given, however.

CASH FOR BOMBS

The committee said that when the 19,040 plane program was started, productive facilities were insufficient and the entire amount of money necessary was not provided. Now, the committee reported, industry can produce the planes and it provided funds to buy 2,850 more, together with the 3600 bombers.

"Developments in the present war definitely indicate the imperative need for additional productive capacity of bombers of the larger sizes," Gen. Marshall told the committee.

The bill includes $148,039,296 for Army development of outlying air bases, including construction of Atlantic bases on British possessions and new Alaskan fields.

Money was carried to buy 1443 anti-aircraft guns to arm 800 merchant vessels—a new practice in the American defense scheme.

The bill includes $2,500,000 for a naval ammunition depot at San Diego, Cal., and $14,575,000 for a marine corps training area on the East Coast.

BUDGET SLASHED

For the first time the committee seriously slashed budget estimates for defense funds, cutting them $3,817,542. Among the cuts were denials of funds for gas masks for horses and for high priced saddles.

Money was included for Army store House construction as follows:

Memphis, Tenn., $1,000,000; Oakland, Cal., $1,000,000; Southern California, $400,000; Ogden, Utah, $500,000; Charleston, S. C., rehabilitation of port of embarkation, $1,500,000; Hawaii, Kapaemahu basin dock, $5,571,000; Los Angeles, wharf, etc., $5,000,000; Mobile, Ala., pier, $3,000,000.

New Orleans, transit shed, $1,500,000; Oakland, Cal., port of embarkation, $7,500,000; Seattle, Wash., new pier, $2,750,000; Camp Jessup, Ga., Motor transport repair shops, $1,100,000; Ft. Knox, Ky., $2,300,000; Ft. Lewis, Wash., $2,300,000; Monterey, Cal., $2,300,000; Ft. Sill, Okla., $2,000,000.

DEBATE BIG ARMY

The issue of possible American entrance into war was raised in House debate today as the committee urged passage of the bill.

Members who raised the issue demanded to know whether the proposal indicated possibility of a second AEF being sent across. "It appears to me that there must be some thought of sending our men outside this country, because all the armies and navies in the world couldn't invade the United States if we had four million men," Rep. Bradley (R.) of Michigan, told the Chamber.

DIVORCE HERS—Maria Zimbalist Goelet (above) daughter of Efrem Zimbalist and Alma Gluck, noted opera singer, today had been granted a divorce in Reno from her socially prominent husband, Ogden Goelet. She charged cruelty.

Bradley said that military experts contend that it takes four men in an invading force to one in a defending force. If an army of four million is to be created for defense alone, that would indicate fear of 16,000,000 men in an invading force and this is impossible, he said.

Rep. Taber (R.) of New York, explaining the bill, said the productive facilities for 4,000,000 men were to be provided in the event that some unforeseen situation made an army of that size necessary.

"Why should we need an army of four million if their services are not to be required beyond limits of the Western Hemisphere?" asked Rep. Robison (R.) of Kentucky.

"I don't know," replied Taber. "I don't think anyone could answer that question. I do not think, however, there is anything we can do except appropriate the money for the program which is laid down."

Pope Cancels Easter Mass in St. Peter's

VATICAN CITY, March 21 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Pope Pius XII had cancelled the usual Papal Easter mass in St. Peter's and Benediction from the church's balcony for the first time in nine years because of war conditions.

LYONS, MANNOS GET 5 TO 6 YEARS particular system of bonuses" is a wrong method.

He said that, although the method has been in use for years, Lyons' and Mannos' being found guilty "shows it is improper, and maybe it will change, because these two men have been convicted of a crime which they did not think was a crime."

Callahan contended that no money had been lost to the city and argued that the conviction of the men, in itself, was sufficient punishment.

Sentence was imposed, however, and immediately afterward, Atty. Leahy and Callahan moved for stays of execution.

Dist. Atty. Bradford said in response:

"There must be a question of reasonable doubt in your mind for granting a stay of sentence, Your Honor, and in this case there can be no reasonable doubt. "However, I feel obliged to save the rights of the defendants. But I bring to the attention of the court the situation of having the mayor of a city being convicted on over 40 counts and remaining in office."

The district attorney asked that the court, before granting any stay, insist that Lyons resign as mayor.

Judge Williams replied he was inclined to stay the execution of sentence, and added:

"But I feel that if the stay of sentence is granted he (Lyons) will not perform the functions of mayor while the appeal is pending."

Then Judge Williams called:

"Mr. Lyons."

Mayor Lyons stood up and faced the bench. Judge Williams asked:

"Will you stipulate, pending all appeal, that you will not perform any exercise, or make any appointments, or do anything as mayor of Cambridge?"

"Yes, sir," replied Lyons.

Dist. Atty. Bradford then made a motion that bail on each defendant be increased to at least $10,000. Mayor Lyons had been free on his personal recognizance, Manne on $3000 bond.

The court, however, set $7500 as bail for each and gave them until next Wednesday to furnish the bonds, with the stipulation that there be double sureties if the bonds were not in cash.

PLYMOUTH DIGS OUT OF BOMB WRECKAGE

By J. K. TREWHELLA

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 21—Buoyed by a message of confidence delivered by King George only a few hours before the raid began, this ancient English port today dug itself out of the wreckage of a Nazi air attack that ranked with the worst in the war's history.

The King came to Plymouth to inspect the city's defenses. He visited air raid shelters, air fields and gun emplacements and took occasion again to assure the people that neither air raids nor attempted invasion could dim the nation's courage.

For the first time the monarch boarded one of the former American destroyers recently acquired by Britain. He inspected the ship's company, composed entirely of Canadians, and displayed particular interest in the destroyer's equipment and armament.

A few hours later the German bombers came over in waves, sweeping in over the Channel.

CASUALTIES HEAVY

On ancient cobbled streets and in department stores, movie houses, pubs and apartments the bombs began to drop and throughout the night Plymouth grappled with fires and explosions. Casualties were heavy.

Plymouth has had attacks before. But of recent months the part has been more or less spared.

Last night was the city's turn. The German raiders apparently aimed for the Devonport dockyard. A brief tour of the streets was sufficient to show that the city itself took a terrific pounding.

CHURCHES BLASTED

Three churches were blasted to varying degrees by incendiary and high explosive bombs. Two hospitals were damaged. Two public air raid shelters, jammed with Devonshire people seeking safety were hit directly.

Following the usual pattern, the raiders first dropped fire bombs. Coming over at two or three-minute intervals, the raiders plastered the city with these incendiaries and then used the resulting blazes for bomb targets.

The entire resources of the town were devoted today to digging victims out of the wreckage, burying the dead and treating the injured. There was no official announcement as to the number of casualties.

RAF Blasts U-Boat Base at Lorient

LONDON, March 21 (INS)—RAF bombers hammered the German submarine base at Lorient on the German-occupied French coast last night for the 48th time.

An aid ministry communique, describing RAF bombing activities, stated:

"British bombers last night successfully attacked the docks at Lorient. A large fire was started and many explosions were caused. A enemy supply ship was machine-gunned off southern Norway."

"Aircraft of the coastal command attacked a number of E-boats (fast German motor torpedo boats) and a larger patrol vessel."

"The crews were seen to take to the lifeboats."

The British assault on Lorient—one of Germany's main submarine bases—was understood to have been heavy. Unfavorable weather prevented RAF attacks on Germany during the night.

The latest RAF raid was the second successive attack on Lorient.

'Invaders' Routed in British Test

By J. NORMAN LODGE

SOMEWHERE ON THE SOUTH-EAST COAST OF ENGLAND, March 21 (AP)—Gun crews of the Royal Artillery stood ready in the dark, chilly morning and 29 seconds after an "invasion alarm" had been sounded lanyards were pulled to repel the "invaders."

A few moments later a German "troopship" (really only a decoy white yacht) was sunk and searchlights were sweeping the beaches so that the supporting infantry might deal with any survivors who might have reached British soil.

DRAMATIC SCENES

Within that dramatic 29 seconds when the alarm sounded and the first shell was fired, not only had the six-inch guns been trained and loaded with 100-pound missiles but the long fingers of light from the protective searchlights guided the aim of gunners in their sandbagged posts.

Range-finders had begun the operation of their intricate instruments and battery commanders in observation posts were snapping out orders for relay to gun crews.

It illustrated the preparedness measures with which the Britons expect to meet the invader if he comes.

One moment the only visible sign of life was two sentries patrolling beneath the crescent waning moon.

ALARM SOUNDS

Suddenly the mock alarm sounded.

And as suddenly all was activity. In gun pits and guard rooms, war stations and officers' messes bells rang. Exactly 29 seconds later the first six-inch gun was fired.

A north country sergeant major bawled out in the night:

"Target right!"

And 2000 yards out in the Dover strait the little white ship was caught in the shaft of a big searchlight.

To the observers this tiny vessel was a German transport.

Suddenly the order, "Ranging salvo, fire!" was barked. A slight whiff of fog passed over the sea and a moment later the ship, twisting and turning, spray lifting at the bows, was lost beneath the waves.

500,000 to Sell Defense Securities

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The Treasury today began enrolling an army of 500,000 persons to assist in a campaign to sell billions of dollars' worth of the new defense savings securities to the American public.

Gale F. Johnston, St. Louis insurance man who will supervise the drive, said the campaign workers would be sent out to ask employers to use the securities for employee savings plans; to canvass the schools; to urge labor union cooperation; to arrange with banks so depositors can have the bonds bought for them regularly and charged to their accounts, and to organize other promotional activities.

Governors, mayors and other prominent local officials will be asked to name committees in even the smallest communities.

10 CENTS TO $10,000
Johnston explained that the theme of the drive would be for continuous purchases rather than large lump sum transactions.

For example, he said, the idea would be to encourage a school child in the habit of buying one 10-cent savings stamp a week or month, rather than to have the child buy $5 worth at one time, and then forget about the matter.

The new securities, announced last night by Secretary Morgenthau, were graded in denominations all the way from 10 cents to $10,000 in order to make such regular purchase programs fit into almost any size purse.

With some officials hoping to multiply several times the $1,000, 600,000-a-year rate at which "Baby" Bonds have been sold, here are the investment wares they will place on the market May 1:

Postal Savings Stamps—10, 25 and 50 cents, and $1 and $5 units. Bear no interest. Redeemable in cash anytime or exchangeable for Defense Savings Bonds.

SALE VALUE RISES
Defense Savings Bonds—Almost identical with existing "Baby"

Bonds, which they will replace May 1. In denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Purchase limited to individuals.

Series F and Series G Bonds—Each series in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Sold to corporations as well as individuals.

While the defense savings bonds may be cashed at any time after purchase, the series F and G bonds cannot be cashed until held six months, and then the Treasury reserves the right to require 30 days' notice. In all three cases, the sale value of the bond accelerates as it approaches maturity.

Officials explained that the securities were designed so as to discourage purchasers from liquidating them before maturity because they wanted to emphasize the idea of permanent savings and because the Treasury would need the money.

The drive being organized is expected to rival some of the Liberty Bond campaigns of the World War days.

Woman Faints During Holdup, Gunmen Revive Her

CHICAGO, March 21 (AP)—When two shotgun-toting robbers burst into a tavern and took $25 from the till it was too much for Mrs. Anna Chilli, 39, a barmaid. She fainted dead away.

Displaying unexpected courtesy the gunmen revived her with a glass of water and bade her sit at a table while they finished the business at hand—that of taking another $25 from three customers.

3 Quit Slav Cabinet, Delay Bow to Axis

parties represented by the Recalcitrant ministers to see if they would agree to name more Amenable cabinet representatives.

4 GENERALS OUT TOO

Political quarters said that only a quick change in the cabinet would enable the official party to leave for Vienna as scheduled.

The tenseness was heightened by disclosure that four of Yugoslavia's most prominent generals were pensioned early in the week as a "mere routine matter."

Observers pointed out that Army circles have been among the most vigorous opponents of a surrender to Germany.

But government circles said the remaining high officers had agreed to the government's decision.

International News Service in Belgrade today reported that the staff of the British legation has prepared to leave Belgrade. A considerable amount of legation luggage was sent out of the city last night.—Editor's Note.

Nervousness in the capital was accentuated by paralysis of the city's trolley, telephone and lighting services for a short period at noon. But engineers said the trouble was technical.

German circles said the formalizing of Yugoslavia's entry into closer relations with the Reich would be swift, with Premier Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic due to leave tonight or tomorrow for Vienna where they would sign the document Sunday.

Although the government's action was reported by responsible government sources, British circles still insisted they had reason to believe Yugoslavia had reached no decision on what concessions she would make to the Axis.

While admitting that the solution might be found in time to permit the premier and foreign minister to make the Vienna trip soon, the British said this morning's cabinet session and the afternoon meeting at the palace were "sufficient indication no agreement has yet been reached."

Slovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, among Yugoslavia's neighbors in southeast Europe, previously had joined the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis.

WHAT AID STILL SECRET

The degree to which Yugoslavia's decision will facilitate German action in the Balkans, possibly against Greece to bolster the faltering Italians, was uncertain in the absence of details of the agreement that has been reached. But a responsible government leader said it would provide economic and "semi-military" aid to the Reich.

The crown council approved the program last night and the cabinet later voted for it, 13 to 4, after a bitter wrangle.

As in the recent history of so many of Yugoslavia's southeastern European neighbors, internal divisions played a part.

The four cabinet members who held out until the last and then backed up their opposition with resignations, were reported to have been Serbs, the racial element which had formed the nucleus of modern Yugoslavia.

The thirteen who voted to accept Germany's last offer were said to be Croats and Slovenes. The Croats, in particular, have been a militant minority in Yugoslavia who long battled for autonomy.

Prince Paul, however, was said to have declared to the Serbs who sought to quit the government that they could not do so until the agreement was signed.

Although the general staff members were reported to have counseled acceptance of the German demands, military circles said feeling was high among lesser officers and the rank and file.

As yet, however, the country had not been acquainted with the action except by "grapevine."

Morning newspapers had carried only an official announcement that "foreign affairs" had been discussed at a late night cabinet session.

The papers printed Berlin dispatches, however, which said: "The confidence displayed by Yugoslavia in Germany will be rewarded."

The cabinet members who resigned were identified as Dr. Srdjan Budisavljevic, minister of social welfare; Dr. Branko Cubrilovic, minister of agriculture and leader of the Serb peasant party; and Prof. Mihaljo Konstantinovic, minister of justice.

The fourth was said to be Milan Protisch, minister of supplies.

Lonely Navy Bride Begs Ride Laddie Got

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Mrs. Clover Lambert, a Navy wife, pines for the life of a dog—specifically, Laddie.

Laddie—remember?—became so homesick after Pvt. Everett Scott went from Kansas to Camp Ord, Cal., that an airline gave the 10-year-old airedale free transportation to rejoin his master.

Mrs. Lambert, a bride pining for a long, long delayed honeymoon addressed her plea to the Associated Press from her Chula Vista home.

"Laddie was a cut-man dog and everybody realized there was only one place for a dog of that type, with his master."

"Now, I happen to be a one-man woman and I long to rejoin my husband... Joseph Lambert of squadron VP 13 in Manila.

"We were married in July, 1939, and Joe got leave for a nice leisurely honeymoon but lo, after five days he was ordered to duty at Seattle.

"Immediately after he returned, he was ordered to Honolulu in a mass flight. I rejoined him in January, 1940, in romantic Waikiki, where we enjoyed a belated honeymoon and decided, very definitely, that we'd take the minister's word literally and cleave unto each other until death do us part.

"Then, out of the blue (and I mean blue) came orders for a mass flight to Manila. The news was devastating to all the wives because we got our orders—to return to the mainland for the duration.

"Now, thinking of Laddie again, I'm not quite five feet tall, and I could do with a little fasting, if only as a slimming measure. I wouldn't weigh much and I'd take up very little room. So-o-o-o, Mr. Editor, if some nice clipper officials could be aroused to sympathetic effort...

"I'd much rather be with my husband, even with bombs bursting in air (should it come to that) than to be safe and lone-some..."

Just in case Mr. Editor didn't sympathize, Mrs. Lambert post-scripted:

"Every service wife in the world will understand."

DUNNVILLE, Ont., March 21 (AP)—Leading Aircraftman Donald Edward Benniman of Thorold, was killed today when his plane crashed at Byng near here.

Choir Player's Wife Freed, Tells of Rival

Sobbing frequently, Mrs. Sigrid M. Morris, pretty ash-blond of Ransome st., Brighton, told Judge Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr., in Suffolk Probate Court today her husband once told her "he had another romance."

"He told me that was why he couldn't give me money when I wanted some," she cried. "Then he fought with me and beat me and ripped my clothes off."

This behavior, she said, was on the part of Valmore D. Morris, who is a $45-a-week employee of a bank and a $10-a-week church organist.

"Another time I found something in his pocket," she said, but when asked what that was, she stopped and finally insisted on whispering confidentially into Judge Wilson's ear.

They were married, she said, in Naahua, N. H., in January, 1930. They are the parents of a 10-year-old son, Richard. Mrs. Morris was granted her freedom on counts of cruel and abusive treatment, and $10 a week for the support of her son.

Hazel A. Mossman of Puritan rd., Arlington, told of seeing Mrs. Morris with blackened eyes and bruises on her face.

N. Y. Seaman Sends Knudsen $7.50 for Defense Financing

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—William S. Knudsen received today a postal money order for $7.50 to help in financing the defense program.

Fausto Trujillo, who identified himself only as a seaman of New York, sent the contribution to the defense director saying that he was married and had to pay no income tax but wanted "to do my part toward our cause." The sum was the amount of a pay increase he received last month, Trujillo wrote.

Knudsen said he would return the money and suggest to Trujillo that he use it in buying defense savings stamps soon to be placed on sale.

KENNEDY SALES PEOPLE SAY—

"I like my job at Kennedy's. I like the feeling people have about the store. They seem to linger as if it were a place to feel at home in—and they stop to talk to me when they buy goods. I know a lot of people by name and they know me by name, too. It's more like being with friends than being a sales person."

KENNEDY CUSTOMERS SAY—

"It's fun shopping at Kennedy's. Shopping there is like visiting with friends. Dad has been wearing Kennedy clothes since he was a boy. We enjoy their practical charge account system, too! It's payable over a three months' period."

MANUFACTURERS SAY—

"We like to sell Kennedy's. They're a great concern to do business with. To us Kennedy's typifies New England—sound, dependable, fair, determined to give honest value. They give us fair 'breaks' too!"

Kennedy's is a part of New England—you will find a Kennedy store in almost every one of our principal New England cities.

Forty-nine years ago we were founded by a New Englander, and today Kennedy's is still operated by New Englanders. We have no affiliation with any other store or group of stores.

We're a small store at heart, and proud of it. We enjoy our personal contacts with our customers. We enjoy knowing most of you personally. We don't use Department of Commerce figures or research charts to find out what you like—we ask you. That's why you find that Kennedy's always has so large an assortment of the things you want at the prices you want to pay.

We like to feel that we are measured—not by square feet, or numbers of floors, or the brick and the stone and the steel of Kennedy's—but by the depth of our courtesy, the broadness of our hospitality and the circumference of our service!

NEW DRAFTEES SENT TO HUB HARBOR FORTS

For the first time since the draft law went into effect, Uncle Sam assigned selectees in wholesale numbers to forts in Boston Harbor and thus brought total strength of the "front door" defenders to 4000 men today.

In one of the largest inter-harbor troop movements here under the defense program, some 700 draftees were sent to the existing three batteries of the 9th Coast Artillery and a new battalion was added to the regiment.

About 400 of the newly inducted men were shifted from Island Fort, where they completed their basic three weeks' training, to Ft. Dawes, Deer Island.

The remaining 300 selectees were sent to form a new Battery, "F," at Ft. Strong, Long Island, and to complete Battery "C" there, and also sent to Battery "A" at Ft. Warren.

At Ft. Devens, meanwhile, Army officials took steps to obtain the use of land in the Leominster state forest for machine gun practice, and at Camp Edwards the YD hastened announcement of a new through train.

De New Haven R. R. said that under a new schedule the train will be introduced Saturday at Camp Edwards for soldiers who wish to spend their week-end with families in central and western Massachusetts.

The train, which will leave Camp Edwards Saturdays at 12:30 p. m., will operate direct from the camp to North Adams, stopping at Ayer, Fitchburg, Gardner, Orange and Greenfield, and thus avoid necessity of transferring at Boston.

An Army board of inquiry was scheduled to meet today or tomorrow at Ft. Devens to probe the sudden death of Sgt. Oliver McLenore, 36, of Scottsboro, Ala.

Ft. Devens officials also announced that some 3000 letters sent to soldiers there were sent back to the dead letter office at Washington because they were improperly addressed.

Army officers said that since the arrival of the full First Division the population at Devens has swelled from 2500 to 21,654, and that letters now sent with the bare address of Ft. Devens has little chance of being delivered. Letters must bear the soldier's company or battery, they said.

Hershey Warns Draft Boards

Temporary deferment for selective service registrants who are candidates for commissions in Army, Navy, Marine Corps or flying cadet services, was suggested today by Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, deputy selective service director.

In a memorandum to state selective service directors Gen. Hershey pointed out:

"It has come to the attention of national headquarters that certain registrants have been inducted who were candidates for commission. In the army, navy or marine corps, or for enlistment as flying cadets, navy aviation cadets or marine corps aviation cadets.

"Where induction has been followed by confirmation of commission or enlistment, great confusion and many administrative complications have resulted."

After calling attention to a provision that such registrants can be granted deferment, Gen. Hershey suggests that local boards give deferment of 60 to 90 days provided that authorities in the services affected give notice registrants applications are being considered.

LINDBERGH ASSAILS U. S. WAR TREND

NEW YORK, March 21 (INS)—The United States will win for itself only "humiliation and defeat" if it enters the European war, Col. Lindbergh predicted today in a today in a "Letter to the American People," in which he urged all citizens to systematically resist a war trend in the nation.

The 6000-word letter was published in Collier's Magazine. Offering reasons for non-participation of the United States in the war, Lindbergh wrote:

"We have not as many thoroughly modern fighting planes in our Army and Navy combined as Germany produces in a single week."

He charged that British propaganda minimizes German losses and exaggerates German losses in attempting to prove, not only that Britain can win the war, but that it is essential to the United States that she should win.

Urging a lone course for the United States, Lindbergh wrote: "We can build a military and commercial position on this continent that is impregnable to attack, and which will force other nations to trade with us, if through expediency alone."

If interventionists recommend leaving the situation in the hands of experts, Lindbergh suggested that they be asked if that meant leaving the situation "to the same experts who have created the greatest national debt in American history and still left us a nation unprepared in the midst of a world at war."

Anti-War Crusade Planned by Wheeler

WASHINGTON, March 21 (INS)—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, who led the fight against the all-out British aid program, today is planning to mobilize the nation in an anti-war crusade.

The senator announced his crusade following a nation-wide radio broadcast in which he charged that British propagandists and other interests "have nearly attained their objective—active American participation in a foreign war."

Wheeler will call upon those who opposed passage of the lend-lease bill to continue the fight "not against the bill" but against war and against every step which gives dictatorial powers to the President.

In his radio speech the Montanan charged that "all out aid for England, Greece and China means all-in-war for the United States." The senator said that his plans to carry the anti-war crusade to the people call for the organization of "flying squadrons" to make radio addresses, speak at mass meetings from "one coast to the other." The object of the crusade, he declared, is to try to show President Roosevelt that the majority of Americans are against entering the European conflict.

CCC Camp to Close; 15 More May Follow

ATHOL, March 21—Frank W. Lyons, recreation director for the CCC camp near here, said today the camp would close in about a month, and be believed 15 other CCC camps in New England, including four in Massachusetts, would close.

Enrollees will be moved to other camps. He said upsurge in employment had sharply cut enrollments,

22 Survivors of Tanker In U. S. After Sub Clash

BAYONNE, N. J., March 21 (INS)—Twenty-two survivors of the torpedoed Standard Oil Tanker Charles Pratt, sunk Dec. 21 off the west coast of Africa, arrived in Bayonne today with the charge that the vessel, carrying 3,000,000 gallons of oil from the Dutch West Indies to New York, was sent to the bottom "without warning" by an "unknown submarine."

"Panama" flags were painted on both sides of the ship and the vessel was good," Capt. Blomquist, of Severn, Md., declared.

Two of the American crew were killed when two torpedoes crashed into the ship, the survivor said.

The crew, in two life boats, rowed about 100 yards away from the torpedoed ship, Eugene Schafflin, 30, engineer, said, and then later returned after dark to see if the vessel was still afloat.

"Suddenly we saw the submarine rise. It circled about as though looking for the ship. We decided it was time to get away from there," he continued.

"Our two boats kept together pretty well for the next four days and nights, and then a wind separated us and we lost the captain's boat. Food and water was rationed. I had three biscuits each day and a mouthful of water every three hours. It was just enough to keep us alive. I don't know what he would have done without cigarettes. That kept up the morale. "Luckily we had calm weather. Then we were picked up about 100 miles from Africa by the English freighter Langkroon. They picked up the captain's lifeboat the day before."

Jail Bridal Is Annuled

Never has the man she loved enough to marry while he was serving a jail sentence attempted to fulfill his marriage obligations pretty, brunette Phyllis Atkinson Wolfe, 29, of Dorchester st., Squantum, testified in Dedham court today in winning an annulment.

She testified before Judge James F. Reynolds she married William A. Wolfe of Quincy in Dedham jail Oct. 2, 1939, after he had served two months of a year's sentence for auto larceny.

He told her, she said, he thought he would be paroled in six months if he were married. She declared she thinks his only purpose in marrying was to win the parole. However, it was brought out, if that was Wolfe's purpose his plan miscarried because he was not discharged until August, 1940. And she has not seen him since nor, she charged, has he attempted to see her.

Mystery Men At Wreck Scene

PITTSBURGH, March 21 (AP)—Fireman Charles Milburn in a statement to the Interstate Commerce Commission last night related he saw two mysterious figures watching the Pennsylvania R. R.'s Buckeye train roll into the Ohio river Sunday night.

The men were outlined on a hillside by the glare from Bessemer steel converters on the opposite side of the river, Fireman Milburn stated, adding:

"I wondered afterward why they were making no effort to go to the aid of the people on the train."

Milburn, fireman aboard the wrecked train, gave a written statement from his hospital bed.

IN THE COURSE of his travels in Mexico, Mr. William Randolph Hearst was granted an interview with President Manuel Avila Camacho, and had his already favorable impressions of the Mexican chief executive strongly confirmed.

"President Avila Camacho," Mr. Hearst wrote subsequently in his personal column, "in the News," "has a sincerely democratic and intelligently constructive mind."

"He cannot help producing in accordance with his thought." His reflections upon this fact impelled Mr. Hearst to observe: "Mexico has developed enormously in the past fifteen years."

"In the quiet of contentment and under the orderly processes of a somewhat more conservative and constructive government, it will develop still more, immensely more."

"Mexico is one of the most delightful lands in the whole world and one of the richest in natural resources."

"There is every reason why Mexico should advance to the very front line of progress among all the nations of the world."

Mr. Hearst obviously enjoyed the interview very much, and the only thing to mar it, as he later confessed in his column "with humiliation," was the fact "that the aid of an interpreter was frequently necessary in order to overcome our inexcusably limited knowledge of the Spanish language."

This thought weighed so heavily with Mr. Hearst that he suggested:

"A thorough training in the Spanish language should be a compulsory course in every school in the United States."

"There is no better way of cultivating the friendly association and understanding with our neighbors in the Latin-American republics which our President desires and to which they, our friends and neighbors, are entirely agreeable."

LANGUAGE BARRIERS between the people of the United States and their Latin-American neighbors are indeed deplorable and inexcusable.

It would be a wonderful thing if all the peoples of the Americas could have a common language, and be able to conduct their business, social and other neighborly relations on the basis of understanding and sympathy and enthusiasm which that would make possible.

Since that is probably impossible, and wholly unnecessary moreover, there should be a general effort for the attainment of proficiency in the languages commonly used by all the peoples of the Americas.

There is not only no BETTER way of cultivating friendly associations and understanding with our neighbors, as Mr. Hearst says, but also no OTHER way.

Whatever their mutuality of interest and sympathy may be, people who are strangers in the matter of language cannot hope entirely to remove the element of strangeness from their relations.

But apart from the practical advantage to be derived from the breaking down of language barriers between the American nations, it is soon discovered by all who seek proficiency in a new language that new pleasures and values are thus acquired.

STUDYING SPANISH, a truly beautiful and expressive language, is an enriching and broadening experience.

It gives entry to new and vast fields of literature, music and history.

It makes intimate acquaintance possible not only with interesting and admirable people, but with fascinating and ennobling phases of human progress and achievement.

Public education in the United States, and particularly in Massachusetts, should surely include a thorough training in the Spanish language.

Our relations with the Latin-American nations are already so important that the existing language barrier is a handicap.

Those relations will not achieve their full and real importance until that barrier is surmounted.

OUR BANKING RECORD is unique; the achievements of no other section or State in the country can match it.

The March issue of Rand McNally Bankers' Monthly reveals the interesting fact that sixty-nine of the two hundred and forty-nine American banks over one hundred years old are located in Massachusetts.

The First National Bank of Boston, established in 1784, is the oldest.

Second on the list is the Beverly National Bank, now observing its 139th birthday.

Third is the Plymouth National Bank, which is only a year younger.

Fourth is the Naumkeag Trust Company of Salem, also founded way back in 1803.

Some day we are going to devote our entire column to veteran banks and bankers in our good old Bay State.

Probably some of the venerable institutions on the Rand McNally roll of honor will give us interesting historical facts to tell.

On The Side

"READING maketh a full man," said Francis Bacon. But he didn't say full of what. I have just learned from reading that a lobster can live to be 30 years old. And so can a goldfish. A catfish can live for 80 years. Imagine being a catfish for 80 years. The thought is depressing. I think I'll go out and buy some new phonograph records so I won't read so much. . . . Contemporary says Greta Garbo "confesses" she is 35 years old. What's bad about a woman being 35? The most interesting women are between 35 and 45 and make the best companions. That's what Benjamin Franklin claimed, and the versatile Mr. Franklin was quite an authority on this subject.

SIDE LIGHTS: Families evacuating the bombed areas of London for the duration of the war took along their dogs and cats. Dogs have not been missed but government has asked for return of the cats. Seems rats and mice taking advantage of absence of the cats and are running wild. This situation may tend to indicate a cat is a more useful animal than a dog. . . . A matrimonial situation expert says the best way to stop a wife crying during a domestic argument is to say: "Have a good long cry, darling—it will do you good."

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q. Our first blessed event is due soon. The doctor says it will be twins. Can you suggest names for twins? A. Well, ma'am I could try. If girls, how about Iris and Doris. If boys, how about Arnold and Ronald? If a boy and a girl, how about Jack and Jill? But don't decide right away. I'll try to think up some more.

But Mr. McCabe blushes when at a party his charming wife addresses him by her pet name for him, which is "Twee-tie" . . . Katharine Cornell. WASHINGTON, Thursday—Yesterday afternoon I spent an hour going over the home where the Little Sisters of the Poor here in Washington care for more than 200 indigent old people.

Fifteen sisters do all the work with the help of some of the old people, but the building is large and many of those who live here are very helpless and require great care.

I looked at the little mother superior and wondered how fifteen women accomplished this work. She told me they got up at 4:30 every morning and went to bed at 9 o'clock at night, and never sat down to rest or idle away any time. I can well believe it.

However, it isn't just the accomplishment of the work which is so remarkable, it is the spirit in which it is done. The building is far more bright and cheerful than when I went through it some years ago, and one felt that the service rendered there was done in a spirit of joyousness.

In every room we went, they sang "God Bless America" and the old voices mingled with the younger voices of visitors who had come in for the occasion.

One colored woman from Cuba, aged 82, sang a Cuban song and danced for me. The sisters urged her on and applauded her. How well they understand that no matter what your age, the ability to make a contribution is one of the satisfactions of life.

AT TEA TIME I talked with Dr. Martha M. Elliot, of the Children's Bureau. She is back from England and very much interested in what she learned over there and how we can make it useful in the improvement of our own conditions.

I saw the President off and am glad that he and all those with him are going to have this rest and holiday.

Miss Thompson and I dined with a friend and spent a most enjoyable evening, in payment for which I eat up until all hours of the night to finish the mail.

Today I lunch with the Ladies' Club of the 75th Congress and then fly over to New York city to spend the night.

I was much interested the other day in talking with Mr. John Anson Ford of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Gertrude Knott of the American Folk Festival. They are eager to have a Pan-American Folk Festival in Los Angeles, Cal., this year. The idea seems to me to have merit and to promise something beautiful and interesting, but as yet it is only in the stage of being planned.

I have just received a notice of a book about the Quakers. It is written by ex-President Comfort of Haverford, and called "Just Among Friends." It is designed to give information about this particular religious group, their activities and philosophy. I think it will be of interest to a great many people.

AMERICA WILL DIET, HARRIMAN SAYS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 21—W. Averell Harriman, the President's special envoy to London, is most reserved in matters of state. But he knows also that his wife, Marie Harriman, is anxious about his safety and welfare . . . And so on Monday Mrs. Harriman received a cablegram from her cautious husband. Its simple message was: "Just Spent An Interesting Week-End." Not until Marie Harriman read the next day's news dispatches from London did she learn what her husband meant by "interesting." For he had spent the week-end with Winston Churchill, gave and received assurances of mutual aid, plus a promise that Americans would diet, if necessary, to supply Britain with food shipments . . . Elizabeth Talbot-Martin of "Meet the People" went to the Dutch Treat Club, where she entertained the members with her imitation of Eleanor Roosevelt . . . A man approached her and said: "You're even better than Alice"

. . . "Alice?" asked Miss Talbot-Martin. "Don't you mean Eleanor?" . . . "No, I mean my sister, who also does imitations of Eleanor," explained Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. "I mean Alice Longworth" . . . Sherwood Anderson, who died in Panama this month, always had yearned to publish a small town newspaper. During one of his recent visits to New York the noted writer told some local newspaper men about the advantages of putting out a country newspaper . . .

"But, Mr. Anderson," one reporter asked him, "how can you build up a good staff in a small town?" . . . "Oh, that's easy," he replied. "All you have to do is write a lot of articles under different names."

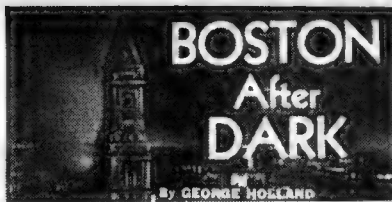

FASHIONS: When Fred of John Fredericks was invited to attend the fashion show at Marshall Field's in Chicago the department store officials wired him: "Come, even if you have to wear burlap." Fred made a literal response to that plea. He startled the Chicago fashionables by having a burlap suit made to his order and wearing it at the show there . . . When he returned to N. Y. his partner, John, asked him: "Well, did that burlap suit get the laughs you expected?" . . . "No," informed Fred, exhibiting the signed slips, "I got two big orders for such suits" . . . William Saroyan came to town to attend the closing of the exhibition of paintings by his protegee, Manuel Tolegian, at the Associated American Artists' show rooms. Saroyan asked to see the reviews by the art critics, and then complained about the insufficient space they accorded the works of his friend . . . "But, sir," the A. A. A. publicist reminded, "44 artists opened their shows in N. Y. at the same time" . . . "3000 novels a year are published," the writer answered, "but whenever mine comes out the critics don't give a hoot about the others."

NOTICE: The N. Y. Times Lost and Found Dept. rejected this ad: "Lost, Strayed or Stolen—William Saroyan. No Reward—Artie and James" . . . The latter are two of his friends who haven't heard from him since his arrival . . . "We do not believe," said the N. Y. Times representative, "that Mr. Saroyan has been lost, nor that he has strayed, nor that anyone has stolen him. And, furthermore, there surely would be a reward" . . . Jay Allen, the correspondent who was arrested by the Nazis in France this week, is a reporter of remarkable courage. When he interviewed General Franco for the Chicago Tribune—at the outbreak of the war in Spain, Allen was able to return safely only by placing a gun at the head of his chauffeur and ordering him to drive at full speed. He came through the rebel lines, despite the squads trying to block his path, and the shots they fired missed him.

POET: Maxwell Bodenheim was called upon to recite at a reception given by some newspaper men. He mounted the platform and delivered his lines—an epic he had written on the Jazz Age which once had brought him prominence . . . The newspaper men were most attentive, while the poet gave full vent to his emotions. Some guests in the back room, however, hoisted high their glasses, and their laughter drilled his ear. Bodenheim stopped and swayed silently. Pointing to the back room he shouted: "Let that be my epitaph," and walked out.

ALICE LONGWORTH

WOULDEST A WORD ABOUT SPRING—which is with us today? . . . The word is that the new spring styles were not being modeled by either Wendy Barrie, the movie queen, nor Tommy Manville, the white-headed (play)boy, when the two made individual and separate appearances among Cafe Society in New York, creating the outstanding sensations of the last days of winter!

DOES ALL THIS SOUND a bit whacky? . . . Well, it is difficult to be coherent in describing these particular appearances of Miss Barrie and Mr. Manville . . . Miss Barrie appeared at the Casino Russe opening wearing one black and one white glove . . . She had no more than entered the Casino when she decided to leave her escort.

THE BYSTANDERS NEXT ESPIED the somewhat noticeable Miss Barrie dancing with a bearded Goliath who was wearing knee boots and a Russian blouse . . . The explanation that this character happened to be the choir master of the Don Cossack choir, which had just given a concert in adjoining Carnegie Hall, was known to too few to make Wendy's bid for attention seem logical.

AS FOR MR. MANVILLE (who is nearly always highly unpredictable!) . . . Tommy—if he is able to influence Spring Styles as competently as he influences people (mostly blondes)—will make popular the strangest get-up old-line Broadwayites have seen in many a Spring . . . Tommy wore a blue dinner jacket, an Inverness cape and a peaked camel hair cap!

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: (Employment tip!) Girls who can dance, including models, have a chance to go to Florida as contractual members of the chorus-line at Ben Gaines' Dempsey-Vanderbilt. Miami Beach . . . George A. Libby, the dance director and stager of the Mayfair shows, will interview aspiring beauties tomorrow afternoon at the Mayfair.

MR. LIBBY HOPES THAT HE can secure a majority of New England girls for the Dempsey-Vanderbilt line . . . In case he can't, however, George will leave for New York Thursday to do some casting there . . . The show will open April 1 in Miami, so there is no long rehearsal period involved . . . They say that Jimmy Stewart, the Oscar-winner, really lacks ten pounds of weight to qualify for the Army. And he's trying hard to win the extra poundage.

TOM ROBERTS WHO PLAYED end for Fordham when his brother, Mayor Dennis Roberts of Providence was playing center on the same team, and who later was graduated with his brother, the Mayor, from the same class at B. U. Law, is hoping to name an expected arrival at his house after his wife, the former Florence McCabe (of Trinity and Pawtucket) . . . It is a reversal twist on the usual situation involving former football players who always fondly anticipate a future line-bucker when Dr. Stork pays a first visit.

SOME CLASSIC COMMENTARIES on California's recent weather were to be expected when Milton Berle arrived out there from Florida, after easily winning first honors as a male nightclub attraction down South this winter . . . Mr. Berle did not disappoint his friends.

WENDY BARRIE

HE SAYS THE FIRST sign he saw was "See the homes of the stars—boats leave every hour." . . . And the new traffic law in Hollywood—says Milton—requires that you do not drive at a speed exceeding eight knots an hour in the residential section . . . Summing up, Milton calls California "The Land of the Forgotten Sun."

IF TALLULAH BANKHEAD will change her mind and continue her successful tour in "The Little Foxes," Boston will be honored with a return engagement . . . Talloch is playing Washington, then jumps to Pittsburgh . . . Business has been excellent.

Hollywood Today

DURBIN-LAUGHTON TEAM PLANNED

By Louella O. Parsons

Deanna Durbin

HOLLYWOOD, March 21—I couldn't have been more surprised when I heard that Universal is co-starring Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton in "Almost An Angel," than if someone told me Shirley Temple would be teamed with Edward G. Robinson. The idea of romantic Deanna appearing with Laughton, who usually runs to heavy "drammah," is certainly something new under the Hollywood sun. Deanna's first picture after she becomes Mrs. Vaughn Paul, will be this whimsical comedy written by Norman Krasna and not "Ready For Romance," as previously advertised.

The story is a beg secret. Joe Pasternak is guarding it with his life, but I did manage to get him to admit that Charlie will play an old man who valiantly refuses to die. Henry Koster, who has made so many Durbin hits, will direct with Joe producing, of course. Bill Senter, who was scheduled to direct "Ready For Romance," will be switched to the Bruce Manning-Felix Jackson opus, "His Butler's Sister."

LORETTA YOUNG

Those of US who met good looking Captain Giles Steadman of the S. S. America at the cocktail party Sally Eilers gave in his honor, admit that he is handsome enough to be in the movies. Well, he isn't going to be in the movies himself but the story of his life, a movie drama called "The Captain and the Ship," will be brought to the screen by Warners. At first I thought this was some sort of publicity stunt. But I am assured that George Brent is actually going to play the role of Captain Steadman and the incident where the valiant captain rescued 28 men from a sinking ship will be incorporated in the movie

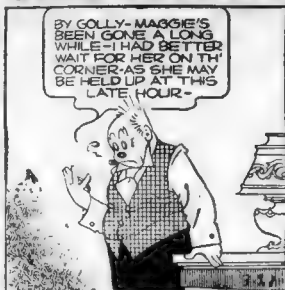

LET NO ONE ever say that Gregory Ratoff, the volatile "Rooslan," is asleep at the switch. Gregory is plenty smart. He has made a business partnership with Harry Goetz, brother of William Goetz, vice-president of 20th Century-Fox and Ben Goetz, well-known producer. Harry knows plenty about the picture business on his own, having been associated with Paramount and many other studios, but the big thing he did for Gregory was to go to Louis B. Mayer and borrow Conrad Veidt, the actor all of us gals find so attractive. Yes, indeed, Veidt is going to be in "Ballerina," the picture which stars Loretta Young and in which Gregory's own wife, Eugenie Leontovitch, has an important role.

IT'S BACK to sarongs for Dottie Lamour. Whether she likes them or not, the fans do. So Buddy De Sylva has told her if she'll go sarong-draped part of the time in "King and Queen of the Jungle," she can wear honest-to-goodness clothes in the rest of the picture. The play, by E. Lloyd Sheldon, sounds like a Tarzan serial but they tell me it's set partly in the jungle and partly in an American circus, which is certainly covering plenty of plot for any movie.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: A few months ago the papers were full of the romance of Arline Judge and Huntington Hartford III. Then Arline came to Hollywood and we heard no more about her boy friend, who is reported the fourth richest unmarried man in the country. Now I am told that he is on his way to the Coast and while here he will look for a play in which to star Arline on Broadway and he may angle a motion picture for her, which sounds as if the romance is still on.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The hottest news of the week is that Virginia Gilmore and Fritz Lang are talking marriage; Baby Sandy has a brother born yesterday. If he's as cute as his sister he'll be another movie star. Mary Martin and Dick Halliday get in New York today and it's Mary's first vacation in the big town in two years; Ida Lupino won't have to worry about what she will wear Easter for Louis Hayward has brought her a complete new outfit; Franchot Tone in Palm Springs recovering from a cold; Wyn Rocomora gave Pat Morison a birthday party at the Scheerazade and the Scheerazade is giving Helene and Lee Bowman, newlyweds, a cocktail party next Tuesday; just when we thought Barry Trivers and Florine McKinney were going to reconcile, he stepped out at the Florentine Gardens with Mary Brian.

Turn of the Key Costly And He Learns His Lesson

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., March 21 (AP)—Turner Bunn, Jr., saw what he took to be two boys in the basement of the cold mill he manages, he locked the door to teach them a lesson about trespassing. He ignored the knocking on the floor beneath his office. Later he relented and let them out.

They were repair men working on the humidifying system. The next day he received a bill for labor with four hours overtime.

Ad Club to Hear Breckenridge

Wilder Breckenridge, sales manager of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Ass'n, will be guest speaker at the Advertising Club's Newspaper Day luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Statler. He will speak on the subject, "More for Your Advertising Money."

The Bureau of Advertising contributes to more than 600 newspapers in the country in the field of research, promotion and selling copy.

In a recent survey by the bureau, Breckenridge proved many vital points concerning newspaper advertising. He showed that most ideas about the positioning of newspaper ads are largely mistaken; that newspapers are read interestingly through their entire structure; that white space can be as detrimental as it can be helpful unless intelligently used. These and many other ideas of interest to advertising men and women will be discussed by Breckenridge at the Advertising Club luncheon.

Listen, World!

36 THERE'S a word, increasingly used in our modern conversation, which burns me. And definitely, it's "FRUSTRATION."

How come? Isn't this word highly respectable? It is. Don't our best sociologists and psychologists use it? They do. Hasn't it increased in public popularity by leaps and bounds since someone first put it on the market? And how! But that's just the point.

Instead of being a scientific term for a definite condition, "frustration" has become the top alibi for every scheme and pouter in the country.

As a mere piece of vocabulary, frustration means being "thwarted, foiled, balked, hindered, prevented" or "attaining a purpose," etc., etc. In other words, you've tried your darnest to do something, but some-

Manie or Obstacle has prevented you.

Which is a good reason for anyone going into a fit of pouts, or wallowing in a nice, damp orgy of self pity. But if you think frustration means this in the popular application, you don't know your average human, stranger.

INSTEAD of meaning a determined but thwarted attempt, frustration has come to mean something you wanted but didn't get. So, says you, it naturally follows that someone must have done you dirt.

But it doesn't "naturally follow." Merely wanting something and not getting it doesn't entitle you to join the ranks of the frustrated. Or give you any other kind of an out. You've got to fight before you can be frustrated. Most times, our so-called "frustra-

Whadda You Mean 'Frustration'?

By Elsie Robinson

tions" are due to our own laziness and spinelessness. Or conceit.

Often we want things far beyond our natural scope or talent. There's no use hoping to be a tap dancer if you've bow legs and ingrowing toenails. And you might as well clip your dreams before they clip you. Oftener we want things for which we are not willing to pay the price. We long to be great writers, musicians, actors, big business men. Glamorous titles, these. But behind those titles lie years of grueling drudgery, monotony, sacrifices, obscurity. So what? Are you willing to endure that grueling test? Or do you just dream about the spotlights which lie ahead—the flattery and applause? And, when the dream doesn't come true, whom do you blame? Yourself? Or the System? Or some cold-hearted relation who wouldn't grub stake you?

FRUSTRATION. What a handy hideaway it is for cry-babies! What an alibi for folks who didn't have the spunk to conquer their own cussedness and cowardice! Frustrated? Sure they were. But who did it? They, themselves.

Of all the poisonous propaganda which we hand our youngsters, and nibble ourselves, this convenient theory of frustration is the worst. Actually, almost nothing, and no one on earth can frustrate you if you've common sense and spunk—and are willing to put up a fight to make good. But that takes plenty of doing, partner. Have you what it takes?

You Can Be Beautiful

Perfect Color Harmony Is Assured You

By ARLINE GOULD

WE'RE "SPECIAL eventing" again . . . and in this Spring of special events in cosmetics . . . none offers you more thoroughgoing beauty than a cosmetic wardrobe for the cost of a single lipstick! It's a special event . . . and it won't last forever, not even all Spring long, so you'd better look into it right away!

A cosmetic wardrobe sees to it that you have perfect color harmony all the way through . . . powder, lipstick and rouge. Three different lipsticks are considered only right for the gamut of shades any clothes wardrobe runs nowadays. So . . . just count up all those boxes of powder, all those rouges, everything to match. Formidable, isn't it?

No wonder this "cosmetic wardrobe," a portrait make-up box which is charmingly packaged in pink with dainty flowers and bows, is considered such a grand idea. The whole shooting match is a dollar. And everything in it is superior stuff . . . from ingredients to the high style of the make-up shades.

There just isn't any color problem you could pose to the portrait make-up boxes that couldn't be solved . . . for there are seven shade ensembles. They range from deep, clear red . . . to the new, rosy-red for the lass who craves a delicate look . . . to the deepest of smouldering reds, to make you so sophisticated in neutrals or navy or black.

To learn about this "portrait make-up box," which offers harmonizing powder, rouge and lipstick for the price of the lipstick, or $1, phone Arline Gould, LEBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gift?—Yes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be invited to spend a week-end at a country home. I should like to know if it is customary to take the hostess a gift, and if so, when is the proper time to give it—upon arriving or when I leave?

W. It is a pleasant and generous custom for a week-end guest either to take a gift with her when she goes for the visit, or to send a gift of some simple kind with the bread-and-butter letter that she writes at the earliest possible moment after she returns home. If you take the gift with you, you give it to the hostess when you arrive. There isn't any point in holding back on the presentation.

40 Cod Rich in Food Values

By MARTHA LEE

IN MANY INSTANCES codfish has contributed not only a great amount of eating pleasure, but also an interesting part of American history.

As a food fish, cod has few peers. It is available almost the entire year, has a taste that every palate approves and leaves little to be desired from a health point.

Because it usually runs over 10 pounds, cod is ideal when cut in a steak form. And, of course, there are a number of ways that it may be cooked. Poached fish is often known as boiled fish. Actually, the water in which fish is cooked should never be allowed to boil, as the texture is destroyed and flavor is lost by boiling. The water in which the fish is cooked should be seasoned with salt, pepper, herbs, and vinegar.

POACHED COD

2 tbsp. butter

- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped carrot
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 4 peppercorns
- 2 cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. vinegar
- 2 quarts water
- 3 lbs. cod

Melt butter, add vegetables, and cook 1 minute. Add peppercorns, cloves, bay leaf, salt, vinegar and water. Cover and bring to boiling point. Boil 15 minutes. Wash fish and wipe with cloth. Tie fish in cheesecloth or cloth bag, place in water, and simmer 30 to 35 minutes, until fish flakes when tried with a fork. Remove from cheesecloth or cloth bag and drain. Serve on hot platter with egg sauce, or chill and serve with mayonnaise or tartar sauce. Serve with mashed potatoes or potatoes with parsley butter, and buttered peas or spinach. Makes 6 servings.

EGG SAUCE

- 2 tbsp. butter
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup pepper
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tsp. minced parsley
- 1/2 tsp. onion juice

Melt butter in small saucepan and stir in flour and seasoning. When well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Then add the hard-cooked chopped eggs. Season with Worcestershire sauce, parsley and onion juice, and reheat. Served with poached or steamed fish. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

FISH AU GRATIN

- 2 cups (1 lb.) cooked fish
- 2 cups medium cream sauce
- 2 tsp. minced green pepper or dill pickles
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 2 tbsp. melted butter

Remove bones and skin from fish and flake. Mix cream sauce with green pepper or pickles and lemon juice and blend with fish. Pour in greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish or 6 individual scallop shells and cover with crumbs which have been mixed with butter. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 35 minutes, until crumbs are brown. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If desired, 5 chopped hard-cooked eggs may be substituted for the buttered crumbs.

Love and Marriage - Dissuaded From Marrying Twice in Same Family⁴¹

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Since my husband died I have been making my home with my invalid mother. About a year ago my husband's brother returned from another state. He admitted that he had always been in love with me and wondered if there was a possible chance that I might marry him.

I did become very fond of him in time and soon found that I loved him even more than I did my late husband. Although my mother likes this man very much she does not believe in marrying twice into the same family.

Do you think I should marry this man, knowing that it might prove fatal to my mother, as she can stand very little excitement, or should I send him away and lose my chance for happiness? L. S. C.

There is no legal restriction against marrying one's brother-in-law in the United States, and even in England the restriction that existed against such marriages from the time of Henry VIII until the reign of Edward VII, no longer exists.

If you love your brother-in-law and he loves you, don't you think the objections of your mother are a bit far fetched?

Invalids take queer notions sometimes, even declining to do those things their doctors prescribe. To wreck the happiness of two lives on account of an invalid's unreasonable objections seems foolish to me.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have a problem confronting me that is very troublesome. I went with a young man four years ago and have not spoken to him since. My love for him has died but my conscience bothers me, and I would like to make up with him. How can I do this without making a fool of myself in his eyes?

DESPERATE.

Are you quite sure your love for you.

him is dead? When a girl hasn't spoken to a man for four years and she begins to worry about the way she has treated him, it seems to me more like an awakening of heart than conscience.

If he isn't married or engaged, you might write him a little note and say that you remember with pleasure your friendship of four years ago. But if the young man is spunky and independent, don't be surprised if he turns you down. At least your conscience will acquit

PERHAPS THERE will be some nostalgic sighs for the old diamond-horseshoe days when the curtain goes up on "The Marriage of Figaro" on next Thursday evening, but the majority of opera-goers are intrigued with the idea of grand opera at the Metropolitan Theater.

Boston's dowagers, in ermines and tiaras, will grace the palatial lounge rooms of the erstwhile motion picture palace on opening night, and will probably find them more comfortable than the lobby of the old Opera House . . . and the dowagers definitely like the idea of having the opera night spang in the middle of town . . .

A brilliant audience it will undoubtedly be . . . many of the patrons' names have already been printed, and others are being added daily . . . Joan Adams, Homer Albers, S. Mitchell Axelrod, G. O. Bartlett, Nicholas Biddle, top the first list of first nighters, which includes Frances Upson Browne, Holcombe J. Brown, John Bryant, Cushing Carleton, George A. Clapp, A. B. Connolly, Stanley E. Cook, Katherine P. Cowin . . .

The list goes on alphabetically, too long for chronicling here, with many distinguished New Englanders on it . . . and winds up with William Whittman, Charles S. Willard, Ben Ames Williams, Blon Wilson, H. M. Withrow, Henry Wolcott, John Wool and John Woodworth.

Margaret Paine Weds Tomorrow

TEN ATTENDANTS will precede Margaret Watson Paine as she goes down the aisle of the Second Church in Newton tomorrow to become the bride of William Ward Willett, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Barrett Willett of Chestnut Hill . . .

The bride-to-be, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Paine of West Newton, will have her sister, Mrs. Wesley H. Loomis of Chicago, as her matron of honor, and Virginia Hewitt of New York City as maid of honor . . .

Mrs. John Musser of St. Paul, a sister of the bridegroom-elect, heads the list of bridesmaids . . . it includes also Mrs. Winthrop L. Brown of Concord, Mrs. Robert Strange of Sherborn, Mrs. Francis G. Jackson of North Andover, Mrs. Edward Hobler of New York City . . .

Also Mrs. Judson Morgan of Cannandaigua, New York, Mrs. Edward L. Cutter of Milton; and Patsy Pitman of New York is the only "Miss" in the procession . . .

Seymour B. Willett will be best man for his son, and the ushers include Richard Hillman of Pittsburgh, Pa., Franklin Eschelman of Ardmore, Pa., John Knox of New York, Curtis Prout of Dover, John Musser of St. Paul, John Dingwall of Wellesley Hills, Seaver Jones of East Orange, N. J., John A. Paine, Jr., of West Newton and Townsend Wheeler of New Haven . . .

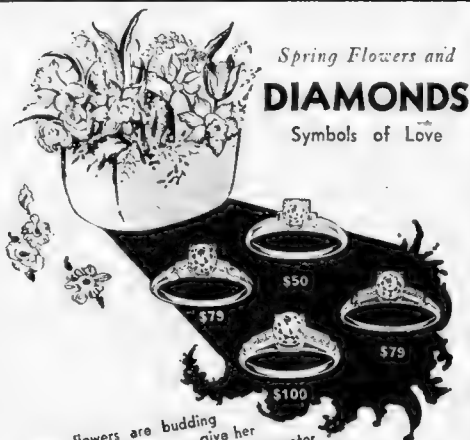

Pre-nuptial parties have been given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert S.

MARY ELIZABETH SEARS . . . known as "Mary Liz" to her young-set friends . . . will undoubtedly be one of the smartly-garbed first-nighters at the Opera this season . . . The picture shows her delving for her tickets at the Ballet Russe opening . . . wearing a stunning white cape with gold epaulets and striking earrings, of which she has a great many beautiful sets.

Weeks, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jackson during the past week . . .

Mrs. Winthrop Brown and Mrs. Edward Cutter will give a luncheon today, and the Willetts and Mrs. Musser will entertain the attendants and ushers at a dinner this evening . . .

When flowers are budding and love is blooming . . . give her a diamond! Buy it at Homer's for greater value and for the satisfaction Homer's reputation assures. Gems mounted in platinum and 14K gold.

'THE GREAT DICTATOR' BRINGS CHAPLIN BACK TO LOEW'S SCREENS

Comedy Now at Popular Prices

By PEGGY DOYLE
 "The Great Dictator" is back again.
 Charlie Chaplin's highly controversial, elegantly upholstered comedy that shies coward pie at totalitarian rulers, returns to Loew's twin screens today at popular prices.

Since Boston, New York and the rest of these United States first cheered over this international three-ring circus, or compared it unfavorably with the earlier Chaplin classics, "The Great Dictator" met with a frosty reception down Argentine way.

As of a week ago, however, 15 of the 20 Latin-American countries have ekayed the Chaplin picture including the capital city, Buenos Aires, where it had originally been banned.

CHAPLIN RANTS AND RAVES
 In "The Great Dictator," Chaplin, the timid little fellow, has modified somewhat his celebrated lamp snuffout. He is a barber, who wishes only to be let alone in his shop. When he speaks and it is rare, it is in frightened monosyllables.

And then he is Hyndel, the raging, neurotic dictator. He rants and raves, emitting the most violent cultural explosives in pat English, past jargon stemming no doubt from his double talk French music hall chanson in "Modern Times."

The picture's highspot is the scene between dictator Hyndel and his nearest rival, Napoleon, played with beetling brow and outburst jaw by Jack Oakie. This sequence for the represents Chaplin comedy at its best.

PAULETTE DELIGHTS
 As the little Ghetto girl, Paulette Goddard reveals a quality of simplicity possessed by few of Hollywood's other glamour girls.
 But it is Charlie Chaplin's pie face. He is the producer, the star, the director, the composer. He has wrought a consistently brilliant production with one exception, say any of his most devoted admirers. He permits his capsaunktonast of a little man to make a speech at the picture's close, a speech that is in keeping with the little man's frightened eyes and inarticulate press.

Perhaps he should have laughed last.

PAULETTE GODDARD as the little Ghetto girl silences Charlie Chaplin in this scene from "The Great Dictator," now back on Loew's State and Orpheum screens at popular prices.

Australia's War Effort On Keith Memorial Screen

"Australia At War," latest March of Time film, now at the Keith Memorial, picture Australia's war effort, involving its seven million people and its entire resources.

Revealing Britain's defense strategy in the Pacific area, from Libya to Hawaii, it shows how Australia's hand fighting soldiers, battling side by side with New Zealanders, South Africans and Britons, have routed the Italian Fascist forces in Africa. The famed Arizona is shown taking up positions at the British naval base in Singapore and at other strategic points to discourage further Japanese aggression toward their homeland in the South Pacific.

RKO Boston stage shows start daily at 12 m., 3:10, 5:05 and 9:05 p. m. The screen feature is "Buck Privates."

EVERY BUBBLE WASHES DOUBLE

THIS is a very screwy case and I shouldn't be in this cage doing three to five. If there was any justice I would be walking the streets or sitting in Joe's, waiting for the sixth race to come in. But here I am, making brooms at seven cents an hour and I got to work.

I never had to work before. Three years from now, if I get the breaks and no screw starts riding me, I go out of here with permission to see the Parole Officer once a week. If I stay away from bad company. What good will that do me? All my best friends are bad company.

What makes it so tough is they didn't have anything on me. Was I innocent? Who said I was? What difference does that make? Dora a dice loader ask you whether you're innocent when he takes your retainer? What is a dice loader? Say, let me ask one on this quiz? Am I Information Please? Listen rap, a dice loader is a mouthpiece and a mouthpiece is a lawyer.

Figure it out for yourself. Get a good mouthpiece that's smarter than the prosecuting attorney and you beat the rap. Get one that's dumber and the beak throws the book at you. All right. All right. A beak's a judge.

But, as I was saying, being guilty or innocent has nothing to do with it. A good dice loader can juggle the law so that the police apologize for arresting you, even if you did what they said you did. I never asks you, "Are you innocent or guilty?" He asks: "How much dough you got?" All right, I'll take 50 per cent for springing you."

The way this happened was just one of those things. An accident. A miracle. Like hitting the jackpot in a roadhouse machine. It couldn't out of there. Nobody never said nothing to me.

The Principle Character in "Juror Number Six"

A PRISONER who doesn't believe in justice because after he has been acquitted on the charge of stealing a fur coat, he is picked up and then sent up for from five to seven years.

I didn't leave the coat at Joe's very long because I could see he meant it when he told me to get it out of there. I took it home and I tried to figure where I'd get rid of it. I found out for the first time that the bigger a hot piece of merchandise is, the harder it is to move it.

See, I couldn't walk alongside of a guy and tell him I had a bargain in a fur coat for, say two C's. Because a guy like that owns two C's ain't walking. And if I tried to peddle it in a store, the proprietor would blow the whistle.

Well, there's a man named Fed-

You know who Juror No. 6 was, don't you? Right. He was Benny Fiddle, the one that bought the coat off me.

So they put the department store manager and a couple of his clerks on the stand. And all they could tell was that the coat had been stolen from the store. They couldn't identify me. They never saw me stealing it. They didn't ever remember me being in the store. Then they put Joe on the stand and he swore I was in his pool hall when the coat was taken. And they put me on the stand and I said I was in the pool hall too. The state rested its case.

The beak bawled the police for arresting me in the first place. The jury retired and came back in 15 minutes with the verdict. It was, "Not Guilty."

So I walked out of court and I had almost forgot the whole thing when the cops came after me again. It was six weeks later. They threw me in the can again and I didn't know what for. So I sent for my dice loader and he comes to the jail and he says, "They're tying you for perjury on the evidence you gave in your trial. They know you lied about being in Joe's pool hall. They know you stole that mink coat."

"They can't try you again for stealing the coat because a jury found a verdict of 'Not Guilty' for you and if they tried you again, you would be in double jeopardy, which is against the law."

"But on that perjury rap, they can give you from 10 to 15 and if I was you, I'd plead guilty and throw myself on the mercy of the court. I am talking to you as your lawyer."

"The h— I will," I shrieked. "They haven't got nothing on me on that mink coat rap. A jury sprung me so how do they know I lied?"

"They know," Mischa told me, "because Beulah, the blonde, is picked up for wearing stolen goods around her waist form. And as soon as they bring her in, she starts to sing. She tells them all about Benny Fiddle giving her the coat for a present. They pick up Benny and he joins in the chorus. He tells how he bought the coat from you for fifty bucks. So you'll cop a plea or else get another lawyer."

So I took the plea and the beak gave me five to seven. It was a very screwy case and if there was any justice, I wouldn't be in this can today.

Juror Number Six

careless over a chair. I didn't know much about fur or about women's coats but a blind man could see it was real mink.

I think fast, see? I am small and skinny and I figure I look like one of those guys that work in a department store. And that coat is mine, if I work fast. So I go into the men's room and I shed my benny and my lid and I hustle back to where I had seen the coat. It's still there. I just go over and pick it up off the chair and throw it over my arm and die in the neighborhood and he keeps a fur shop. He's a nice old sap and as honest as the day is long. And he has a son named Benny. Benny's in his twenties and he don't know yet whether he's honest or not and he's in love with a blonde named Beulah. Beulah has looks, shape and manner. She has everything but a brain but neither she nor nobody she gives a tumble to makes it.

Benny Fiddle's nuts about this broad and she likes him just enough to let him spend all his dough on her. Benny wants to marry her and she tells him, "When you can support me in the manner in which I am going to learn to be supported, I'll marry you." Everybody in the neighborhood knows about it. It's a scandal.

I went to Benny with the coat. I didn't say anything to him. I just let him look at it and feel it. He knew it was hot or I wouldn't have it. And I guess he thought of Beulah. All he said was:

"How much?"

"Two C's," I says.

"I'll give you $50," Benny says.

"And that's final."

"Gimme," I decided, and handed him the coat for five tens.

That was all there would have been to it, only some pigeon flew to the police. The first thing I knew I was picked up on suspicion of larceny. But what did the police have? Nothing. I had my alibi. I was in Joe's place at the time of the robbery. Joe was ready to swear to it. He had to because I'd left the mink in his place while I got my benny and lid back.

So I got me Mischa Severn, a guy something like Dixie Davis was before he discovered the numbers racket and I lay in jail for two weeks fattening up and winning a buck here and there at rummy.

BULLET-PROOF

Do you know, I got a kick out of it when I was brought in to the court for trial and watched them pick the jury. It didn't take long. Mischa wasn't worried about who was on the jury. He told me my case was bullet-proof and I knew he was telling nothing but the truth.

He got kind of cautious only once. That was when they called the sixth venireman. He started to pull in his breath to let it out in a squawk, but I nudged him.

"I got to challenge this fellow," Mischa said, "on account of his father's a furrier."

"Leave him be," I says, "I know the guy. Right now the verdict's in the bag."

"Leave him be," I says. "I know this guy. Right now the verdict's in the bag."

be done, only it could. I had never lifted anything worth as much as a C before. All my raps were for petty larceny, see? And I was getting to be a big boy and you never get anywhere stealing peanuts. Even in stir, the other cons look down on you as a punk. I see what they mean now, since I got to be Big Time myself.

REAL MINK
So I'm walking through this department store on a cold day, minding my own business and seeing if I could snatch something like nylon stockings or costume jewelry that would bring a buck. And I saw the coat. It was flung walk kind of important right out of the store. Honest! It was as easy as that.

I brought it over to Joe's pool room and I says to Joe:

"Joe, I'd like to leave this here for a minute. It's my sister's."

"Yeh?" Joe says. "It's a pretty cold night. What's your sister doing, taking a bath? And who is your sister, Mrs. Astorblit? If that coat's worth less than two grand, you're an honest gee. Don't leave it here long. It looks hot to me."

So I went back to the men's room of the department store and got my benny and lid and wore them

507 WASHINGTON ST., COR. WEST.

THE BRUINS looked the part of champions as they handed the Toronto Maple Leafs a 3 to 0 shellacking in the opening skirmish of the playoffs which will determine what club will have the right to drink champagne from the famous old Stanley Cup.

HITCHMAN AIDS COWLEY

Even though Bill Cowley and Bobby Bauer were Bruin casualties in the glittering ice battle at the Garden, Art Ross' club displayed so much superiority over their opponents that even faint-hearted show bettors are now backing them to win the current series.

It was injuries that prevented the Bruins from winning the Stanley Cup last year, but on what I saw of the National League champions against the Maple Leafs I believe it would take at least a train wreck to stop them this season.

The youthful and flashing Bruins, aided by a few veterans, carried hostilities to the Maple Leafs from the opening face-off. At no time during the game were the Bruins in any serious danger. When the Maple Leafs would make a rally Frankie Brimsek would execute a brilliant save.

Most of the exciting moments of the game were in the vicinity of the Maple Leafs' cage. Turk Broda kept the scoring down to reasonable figures by making numerous dazzling stops of scoring attempts by the Bruins. If it had not been for the fine all-round playing of Broda the Bruins would have won by at least half a dozen more points.

The Bruins did not experience any difficulty in crashing through the Toronto defense and taking wide open shots at the cage. When the young Bruin players would turn on the heat they would leave their opponents with the ease that a thoroughbred race horse flashes away from a starting gate.

As is true in most playoff games, the Bruins did not take reckless chances. They played safe, and when they did make their wild surges down the ice their own defense was set to take care of any emergency that might arise if things did not work out as planned.

Only One Major Penalty in Game

THE MEMBERS of both teams did not forget they were hockey players until the closing minutes of the third period, when Woody Dumart of the Bruins and Gus Marker of the Maple Leafs decided they would find out which player with No. 14 on his jersey was the toughest. The boys tossed very weak looking right-hand punches and fumbled around with fourth rate left hooks and a few wrestling holds until some of their fellow players got bored and stopped the fracas or what you may wish to call it.

The officials took the whole affair seriously, and after due deliberation ordered Dumart and Marker to the penalty box for five minutes each. I hope the penalty was imposed because the boys had given a very shabby imitation of putting on a scrap. The game was over before the five-minute sentences were served, and I presume Dumart and Marker were not permitted to discuss their ability as right-hand punchers until the time limit was reached.

Earlier in the game there were several minor penalties for such things as high sticking and tripping, but such matters merely tended to increase the excitement of the crowd. On the whole, I would say that the boys tended to the business at hand and played hockey.

As these lines are being written the doctors tell me that they have taken two stitches in Bobby Bauer's instep, and that they will await X-ray reports to see if Bill Cowley has pulled a ligament in his right knee.

Cowley received his injury when he was cross-checked by Sweeney Schriner.

Pulled ligaments are among the most serious injuries in sports. It's the only thing that does them any good. This may mean that Cowley will be of very little value to the Bruins for the remainder of the series.

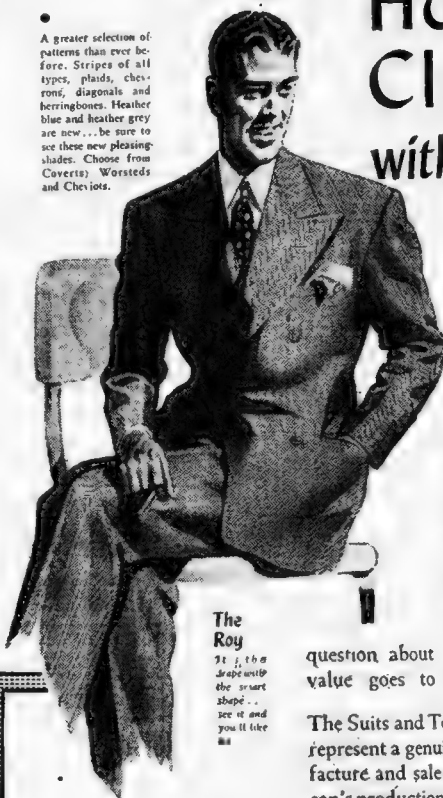

Bauer, on the other hand, will be in Saturday night's game at the Garden.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the game was the goal scored by Flash Hollett on a pass from Terry Reardon after 15m. 33s. of play in the second period. It was the first tally of the game.

COWLEY INJURY MINOR, BAUER OK FOR LEAFS

B's Choice For 2d Game

First day of spring today brought good news to Bruins followers with the announcement that Bill Cowley has no broken or torn ligaments, and probably will be in playing condition Tuesday night at Toronto for the third game of the Stanley Cup series with the Maple Leafs.

Chances that Cowley will play in the second series game tomorrow night in the Garden are remote, though he might get in for a few minutes.

But X-rays revealed this morning that Cowley, at first thought to be critically injured as the Bruins whitewashed the Leafs, 3 to 0, last night, has only some sprains and a few twists to contend with.

This means that the great playmaker will be back to keep the B's in the title fight.

Dr. Martin Crotty examined Cowley today, and added another good news item when he reported that Bobby Bauer, victim of a chest foul last night, would be ready for tomorrow night's contest here.

APPS, KAMPMAN OUT
Hammy Moore, Bruins' trainer, was with Cowley all day today, taping and massaging the ailing limb.

Even if Cowley can't play tomorrow, the Bruins still will be in better shape than the Leafs. Toronto Coach Happy Day said today that Syl Apps would not rejoin the club tomorrow night and that Bingo Kampman's bad ankle would keep him on the sidelines again.

So the Bruins with their lines reshuffled because of the Cowley injury, probably will be favored to make it two straight.

Art Jackson will replace Cowley centering for Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman, while Mel Hill will move up to team with Terry Reardon and Herb Cain. There will be 14 Bruins in uniform for the game, if Cowley doesn't dress.

Smashing with the same fury that carried them through their last 32 games with only one loss, the Bruins battered the Leafs to take the all-important first victory of the cup playoffs.

Before a capacity gathering of 16,100, the Bruins blasted their way to a triumph which Art Ross said would have been at least a 10-goal rout but for the brilliant work of Turk Broda in the nets.

HOLLETT BREAKS ICE
To "Flash" Hollett goes the honor of the first series goal, the tally that settled the issue. The two final goals by Terry Reardon and Eddie Wiseman in the last minute and a half of play were just added for good measure.

Hollett's goal was spectacular. It came in the second period.

RECORD SPRING ATTENDANCE POINTS TO BIG BASEBALL YEAR

TAMPA, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Baseball men are keeping their fingers crossed—but the signs appear unmistakable that the coming season will be one of the greatest in history from an attendance standpoint.

Crowd records are being broken right and left around the Florida exhibition circuit, and in the last half dozen games this observer has attended, grandstand and bleachers have been packed to where the aisles were obstructed. At some of these games the price of grandstand admission was $1.00.

The champion Cincinnati Reds played to more fans in their first two games here than the entire six they played a year ago, with over 3000 watching them engage the Yankees. Cleveland and the Giants played before a record throng of 4300 in Miami, with many turned away, and on another day rival games in Miami and Miami Beach drew 3500 and 2800, respectively.

Old-timers who were attending the training camps at the time recall that there was a similar quickening of interest in baseball at the time of the first World War.

PAYS EXPENSES

That probably is a partial explanation of the current rush for the turnstiles, but the baseball men prefer to believe that the fans also are intrigued by other factors—the prospect of a couple of close league races and the introduction of such colorful newcomers as Phil Rizzuto and Gerald Friddy of the Yankees.

For four springs previous to this one the Yanks were the only consistent draw on the exhibition circuit, with Cleveland scoring at the box office only on days when Bobby Feller was scheduled to pitch. This year several other clubs will more than pay their training expenses.

Brooklyn, if it lives up to expectations and gives Cincinnati a real race, appears a cinch to break the National League attendance record. The Dodgers have a brace of fine individual attractions in Kirby Higbe, their new pitching ace, and in their great little shortstop, Pee Wee Reese.

The only thing threatening National League executives is the prospect that the New York Giants will fall to get out of the second division. The Giants are going unexpectedly good at the moment, but that isn't fooling anybody, and when those acres of seats at the Polo Grounds yawn empty day after day it is tough on everybody.

FELLER DRAWS 'EM

Detroit, which started training long after the others, is drawing enthusiastic crowds at Lakeland, with Pitcher Buck Newsum, defeated hero of the last World Series, the standout attraction. Buck, however, is forced to share attention with his new custom-built car.

which is worth seeing. It is approximately a block long, bears Buck's initials in profusion and the horn blasts "Hold That Tiger" every time Buck punches the button, which is often.

The crowd invariably gives Hank Greenberg a big round of applause the first time he comes to bat.

While there is no such individual attraction in sight such as Babe Ruth used to be, Cleveland has a near approach in Bobby Feller and the Yankees have in Rizzuto and Friddy a pair who will draw many a dollar to the parks once the fans catch their act a few times. They naturally can toss that ball around second base.

It is doubtful they ever would quite retain their present slick cohesion if Rizzuto went in the Army for a year, as it looks like he is about to.

Yale Too Busy

Harvard's group of Phi Beta Kappa—the highest standing scholars at the university, attempted to revive the ancient tradition of a baseball game with the chapter at Yale. A polite, brief note from New Haven expressed regrets that they had so many things to do that they couldn't fritter away time on sand-lot baseball games."

Hatlo BEES ATTEMPT TO MAKE UP LOST GROUND

By BILL GRIMES

HARLINGEN, Tex., March 21—After loafing for four days, the Bees will climb back into their uniforms today and play a double-header over at San Benito.

They've been making time all week. They haven't even seen a baseball since they defeated the St. Louis Browns last Sunday afternoon down at Monterrey, Mexico. The Stengelesse lost all day Monday through a driving rain that came from Monterrey to San Antonio. They were to have played the University of Texas at Austin, Tuesday, but four inches of rain on the Longhorn diamond caused that game to be postponed.

On Tuesday night, they climbed into sleepers and came down here into the Rio Grande Valley on a three-day trip, during which they were scheduled to meet Ft. Worth, Toledo and San Antonio. They were rained out yesterday at Brownsville, where they were to have taken on the Packers and suffered the same fate today over here where they were to have played Toledo.

GOOD SPORTS

From what I've been able to gather, the Chambers of Commerce of this town, Brownsville and San Benito made up a pool and guaranteed a portion of the Bees' expenses for this trip. Due to the fact that rain has prevented the Bees from strapping their stuff at Brownsville and over here, it began to look as though the Chambers of Commerce were going to be left holding the bag.

But the Rio Grande Valley boosters are good sports. They didn't squawk. But they were disappointed that the weather man crossed them up. Naturally, they wanted to get a run for the money it has cost them to bring the Bees down here from San Antonio, which is about 300 miles north of Brownsville. It takes more than peanuts to make a three-day trip with a party of 12 persons.

Casey Stengel proved himself as good a sport as the Rio Grande Valley boosters. He was willing to play the games tomorrow, if the gate would get Harlingen, Brownsville and San Benito out of the barrel. When "Doc" Osborn, sports editor of the Valley Morning Star, advised against a morning game, Old Case agreed to play a double-header.

STARTS SULLY

Representatives of the three valley town clubs drew to see which two would play the Bees. The Toledo club, which is training here and San Antonio, which is over at San Benito, won out. It was also agreed that the twin bill should be played at San Benito, which is seven miles south of this town.

In the first game, the Stengelesse will take on Marty McManus' Mission and the Toledo Mudhens will be their opponents in the nightcap. There are 27 players on this trip and with the exception of six pitchers every man will see service this afternoon.

Manager Stengel plans to start Lefty Joe Sullivan against the

Tabor's Days as Sox Appear Numbered

By HERB FINNEGAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21—Jim Tabor was left behind in Sarasota this morning when the Red Sox departed for this home of the aged, where they face the St. Louis Cardinals today.

The big third baseman will not play against the Cards today, nor against the Dodgers in Clearwater tomorrow, and it is extremely doubtful if he ever plays for the Red Sox again.

Joe Cronin is fed up on the Alabamian's escapades. He has been tolerant, patient, paternal with him for two years, hoping he would realize one day that baseball was a serious business.

He was delighted when Jim got married last summer, and when his third sacker became a father recently he was positive he would buckle down and become the ball player he could be. But no soap.

It wasn't any specific incident, Joe said, that forced him to leave Tabor at home while Lou Finney took his place at third against the Cards and Dodgers. It was just an accumulation of circumstances over a period of two years.

NO KINDERGARTEN

That accumulation of circumstances was climaxed when Tabor reported at the Sarasota club house 24 hours ago in no condition to play ball. He complained of an injured foot, which Cronin said he must have got from "kicking" over the traces, because "I'm sure he didn't injure it on the ball field."

Cronin's formal statement was: "Tabor has shown he hasn't the best interests of the club at heart and until such time as he realizes we are not running a kindergarten here, we'll experiment with Finney and Hale at his position."

Tabor has been with the club two full seasons, joining the Sox late in '38 from Minneapolis. He's only 24, a six-footer, weighing 175 pounds and a perfect physical specimen. He's the type of athlete who could be a standout at any sport with a little application.

In 19 games with the Sox in '38 he batted .316. In 149 games with the Sox in '39 he batted .269, knocked in 95 runs and made 14 home runs, quite a record for a first year man.

DAYS NUMBERED

Last year he played 120 games at third, batted .285, knocked in 61 runs and made 21 home runs. He was operated on for appendicitis in August, and such a hardy individual is he that he was back playing third base for the Sox a month later.

He was suspended by Cronin in mid-summer of '39 when the club was going to Washington, and was sent home. But the ever-lenient Cronin forgave him gave him chance after chance, but this latest "circumstance" actually broke his heart.

"I'm sick and tired of losing sleep over the guy," Joe said. "Perhaps if he loses his job he'll be the one to lose sleep from now on."

Yes, it looks very much as if Jim Tabor's days with the Sox are numbered.

High Scorer Never Played On Title Club

TYLER, Tex., March 21 AP)—Buck Overall is one of the nation's leading college basketball scorers. He may be the top man.

But what he'd like to know is how many goals you have to pour through the hoop to win a championship?

Buck just has finished his second season as pace-setter of the Tyler Junior College team with 562 points, almost a third of the squad's total. The year before he flipped in 550.

Yet his team ever has done is tie for the Texas Junior College championship. It was a three-way affair at that, with only three teams in the play-off.

It was Overall's fault. He's been playing top basketball five years. Buck was the sensation of Cushing High school which one season won 35 of 37 games, yet didn't take the title.

Last season, his first at Tyler College, the Apaches finished second.

This year in the do-or-die play-off finals he rang the bell for 29 points in the first game and 24 in the second as his team edged in with the tie.

Overall, a slim 170-pound, 6-ft-2 youngster with a slow draft and lightning in his feet, has averaged more than 18 points in each college game.

This year he led the Apaches to 26 victories in 30 starts, 26 of them in a row.

Hivemen Play Doubleheader

Missions and after the hurler of the famous butterfly balls has worked three innings "Black Tom" Early from Roxbury will take over for three frames. Then it will be up to George Barnicle, the Fitchburg Dude, for the remainder of the tussle.

REGULARS TO OPEN BOTH

When the Bees go out for the second game, Wes Ferrell will be on the hilltop. Manager Stengel is anxious to get another look at the former American League star and Ferrell is just as anxious to get in some work. After Ferrell has hurled three rounds, Frank Lenahann, who right now is rated as the No. 5 hurler, will go to the mound and Al Javery will finish the game.

Manager Stengel will start his first team in both games but the Jayvees will be in action after five innings. The second infield will be composed of Buddy Hassett, Buddy Gremp, "Whiter" Wietmann and Henry Majeski.

Max West, Buster Bray and Claude Wilbrun will be the starting outfielder trio but Frank McElyea and Mel Freibach will get into the action. Phil Masl will do most of the receiving and when he asks for relief John Stata will get the nod from Ole Cass.

SAFE—Don Manno, Bees rookie outfielder, beats the ball home with plenty to spare in the Browns-Bees game of last Sunday in Mexico which the Hivemen won. Catcher Grebe of the Browns really had to reach for the throw while Manno's slide was perfect. The Bees after a four day layoff play two games today.

NEEDHAM'S BLAKENEYS, McCULLOCHS RENEW RIVALRY IN AMERICAN TOURNEY

The Blakeneys and McCulloch families of Needham have been waging a merry nip and tuck battle throughout the long winter bowling season. And now these high scoring family units will carry their dueling over into the Record-American grand candlepin championships which will be launched at the Huntington Club one week from tomorrow.

These Needham family groups are unique in bowling ranks. Each of them has a full five-man team comprising male members of the family. Both are of Scotch descent and both units average well over the 1500 team total mark.

Almost weekly they clash in friendly competition over the glistening new alleys of the Needham Bowlinart, opened this winter by popular Billy Sands, who as former manager of Allston's Commonwealth Recreation Alleys, became one of the best known proprietors in the business.

Needham bowling fans follow the fortunes of the two family groups with marked interest. George William, at 81 years, is father of the McCulloch family and heads a team which includes four sons. The Blakenies are all brothers.

SANDS LINES UP LONG LIST

George Wilfred McCulloch was a regular member of his family team. But he recently joined the Army. Fortunately another brother was available to fill the gap without going outside the home. Floyd McCulloch is 39. Lawrence 30. Claude 35 and Kenneth 24. Lawrence bowled on the team which won the New England championships in 1932 at Steve Powell's Seville alleys of East Boston.

The Blakeneys team comprises Stewart, 28; Sidney, 32; Smiley, 30; Norman, 22, and William, 17.

Owner Sands will as usual have a great percentage of his men and women bowlers in the American-Record classic. He is lining up a long list which he will file early next week.

First of many U. S. Army teams which will compete in the mammoth pin congress is a team called the Grenadiers, representing E Company, 101st Infantry, Camp Edwards, and filed by Pvt. First Class Robert W. West. Other teams are coming in from Camp Edwards and Devens and from Ft. Banks.

PORTLAND TEAM ENTERS

Charles A. Crocco is current city champion of Dover, N. H., on the strength of his recent magnificent three strings total of 395 inclusive of strings of 153-131-111. Crocco states he has high hopes of winning the men's amateur singles title in the American-Record championships.

Mary Walsh and Mary Smith of Portland, Me., have been cutting a wide swath through the feminine ranks up their way and they intend to make things hot for the girls when they pair in the tournament doubles. Their performances at Portland during the past winter have been productive of several outstanding high scoring strings.

Entries for the tournament will shortly close. Immediate action is necessary. The tournament runs from Saturday, March 23, through Saturday, April 12—Sundays alone excepted. File your blank T.O. DAY.

Chuck Fenske Volunteers

MILWAUKEE, March 21 (AP)—Charles (Chuck) Fenske, one of the nation's greatest milers, volunteered today for military service with the March quota of draftees called by the draft board of suburban West Allis.

Fenske's induction has been set tentatively for March 25.

Fenske, one of the brightest track stars ever turned out by the University of Wisconsin, had a poor season on indoor tracks.

Martin to Referee Bout in Portland

PORTLAND, Me., March 21 —Johnny Martin of Boston will be the referee when Henry Chmielewski defends his title as New England middleweight champion against Coley Welsh in a 12-round bout here tonight.

Betting on the contest is at even money. It will be the third meeting between the rival middleweights. In former bouts, Chmielewski won the decision.

'How Long Will It Last?' Cry of Louis-Simon Fans

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—"How long will it last?" That old, familiar chant was heard today, with Joe Louis, carrying on with what is described as his "bum-of-the-month" campaign, expected to blast the championship aspirations of ponderous Abe Simon tonight.

The battle set for 20 rounds or less in Olympia Arena, is jokingly or otherwise called the 15th defense Louis is making of his world's heavyweight championship since he won it from James J. Braddock in Comiskey Park, Chicago, back in June, 1937.

The chant started in Boston last December when the Brown Bomber beat Al McCoy so unmercifully he was unable to answer the bell for the sixth round. It was next heard in New York where stout-hearted Red Burman yielded in five rounds. Next in Philadelphia where the battle-worn Gus Dorazio fell on his face, completely knocked out, in two rounds.

52-POUND ADVANTAGE

As the hour of the bout approached there was no one, with the exception of Simon and his manager Jimmy Johnston, who conceded ponderous Abe a chance. Simon stuck to his conviction that he never had been hurt by a blow and did not believe Louis could do it, either. He figured the champion would tire from throwing his punches and that he, Simon, would then come on to win.

The consensus was that the 250-pound Simon would not last more than four rounds and might not answer the bell for the second. He will outweigh Louis by 52 pounds, an advantage which may only prolong the agony for the huge, slow-footed Simon.

CAPACITY CROWD

He is the closest approach to Primo Carnera the ring has ever seen, except that he is not rated as good as Carnera, whom Louis knocked out in six rounds in 1935. Jack Blackburn, the champion's trainer, predicted the fight would not last three rounds.

"Joe is ready, fast and sharp," Blackburn said. "He'll sure have a big, slow moving target to shoot at and I don't see how he can miss in three."

Although no one questions the outcome of tonight's bout scheduled to start at 10 p. m. (EST), it is expected to draw a capacity crowd of 14,000 and a gross gate of $50,000, with tickets selling at $1 to $5.

FISTS FLY AS BRUINS BELT LEAFS IN OPENER

GOING DOWN

—Woody Dumart, big Bruins left winger, takes a punch at Gus Marker and the SPEED-RAY catches the Toronto veteran going down. Dumart who is in line for the Lady Byng trophy for being one of the most gentlemanly players in the game today, resented Marker's high sticking near the finish of the clash and the boys went at it.

OUCH—Holding his proboscis, Wally Stanowski, Toronto's sophomore defense standout at extreme left, starts toward the bench in the first period. He was hit in scrimmage and claret flowed but it was nothing serious. Jack Church (No. 16) is trying to hold Bill Cowley (No. 10) in check.

Bill Cowley Back Soon

when Roy Conacher and Jack Church were both in the penalty box for high sticking.

The Bruins had Hollett, Reardon, Jackson and Crawford on, while the Leafs countered with McDonald, Davidson, Hamilton and Nick Metz.

Big Bucko McDonald and Davidson made a two-man break for the Bruins' cinderella. McDonald carried down the left lane and rifled a shot with his head down and just as he did Crawford belted him into the boards, a legal check, and floored him. At the same time Hollett dropped Davidson—a play where a penalty might have been called. I overlooked it and that was the break.

LONG SHOT

With McDonald and Davidson sprawled on the ice, Reardon got the puck and started toward Broda flanked by Jackson and Hollett. Reardon carried in, passed to Hollett, who let fly from quite a way out. Broda probably felt Flash would pass, but didn't get set and when he tried to handle the high blast which came blazing in just under the top of the cage, he couldn't stop it.

The time was 15:33—it was the game.

It was believed Toronto would throw everything at the Bruins in the final period trying to get that equalizer.

Instead the Bruins kept pressing all the way. Miracle shots by Broda saved at least a half dozen shots that were plainly labelled for scores.

Time was running out fast and there came fast and furiously.

Sweeney Schriner started the trouble by cross checking Cowley. Bill's skate stuck in the ice, and he went awkwardly. They had to carry him off the ice; Cowley appeared to be suffering intense pain.

If that wasn't trouble enough, a minute later the lumbering Hank Goldup accidentally kicked Bobby Bauer on the instep and Bauer limped out of the game.

There went two stars out of action in a minute.

PUNCHES FLY

And while Bauer was limping off, Woody Dumart, one of the mildest players in the game, and in line for the Lady Byng trophy as the most gentlemanly puck chaser in the game, got his first major of the year together with Gus Marker.

Resenting Marker's high sticking with the play some 30 feet away, Dumart gave Marker a taste of his own medicine and Gus threw a punch. That was a mistake, for Dumart then tagged Marker.

When everything had straightened away, the Bruins were without two stars and another stand-out was in the penalty box. Less than two minutes remained and the immediate thought was that the Bruins would hang on to their slim advantage. This was far from the case.

Stoney Jackson picked up the puck and got away to a clean break. With only Bucko McDonald to best, he outsmarted the huge Leaf defenseman nicely and then passed to Reardon, who came down the middle. Terry had Broda at his mercy and easily scored in 18:31.

EASY NIGHT FOR BRIMSEK

Less than a minute later, Schmidt carried in and kept playing deceptively, until he saw Clapper break from his defense post. Milt nudged the rubber to Capt. Dit, who passed forward to little Eddie Wiseman. The tiny right winger whistled home a perfect backhand after making Broda commit himself.

The Leafs threatened occasionally, but never with any consistency. Even though the record shows that Brimsek turned in 27 saves, only four were really tough. Broda, on the other hand, stopped 47, and at least 20 of them were catalogued as exceptionally difficult.

Toronto was outclassed from start to finish.

If the two teams play the same type of game tomorrow night, the Bruins figure to head for Toronto with a two-game advantage.

SMYTHE SITS WITH GALLERY GODS

Broda Greatest Player on Ice Says Ross

Col. Connie Smythe can always be depended upon to pull a unusual . . . the Leafs major domo accepting a dare, watched the first playoff game from the second balcony with the gallery gods and said after the tilt that they were the best behaved fans he ever mingled with.

The Bruins were 10 to 6 favorites yesterday morning, but just before game time they were made a 10 to 4 choice . . . after Hollett scored the waging was 5 to 1 on the Ross-men . . . Goldup who suffered a gash in his leg that required five stitches last Sunday night unexpectedly returned to the Leafs lineup but his presence didn't help any.

If Bill Cowley is sidelined tomorrow night, Art Jackson will probably center the Cowley line and Mel Hill who was only a spectator last night will return to action . . . After the first period, Hill saw that he was going to do nothing but watch, so he appeared for the last two periods with a big blanket—at least he wasn't going to get cold.

Connie Smythe said that Brimsek played a greater game than Broda and when Art Ross heard this he answered:

"Smythe is crazy. Sure Brimsek was good, he was as steady as ever but he had very little to do. That Broda was the greatest player on the ice. Five times our players were in on him clear and we didn't score on any of those opportunities."

This is the sixth playoff series between the Leafs and Bruins . . . Toronto has won four of the previous five . . . Coach Happy Day pulled everything in the book to beat the B's . . . he kept shifting lines all night but it was to no avail.

Cowley took his injury good naturally . . . while the injured member was packed in ice he said: "That's the second time that Schriner has got me . . . he pulled the same thing up in Toronto . . . I saw him just in time and figured I could hold my balance but my skate stuck to the ice and I was licked . . . I'll be back there though."

The Canadian Press polled N. H. L. first team was made up entirely of Bruins and Leafs except for New York Rangers' Bryan Hextall at right wing . . . after last night's game, the first team should have been all Bruins.

"Red Horner, that hated Toronto defenman of yesteryears, came down to the game with a few of the anti-Leaf rooters . . . "Red" is still a Connie Smythe's payroll and is known as an "Ambassador of Goodwill" . . . one fan was so anxious to get into the Garden that he had his motor running in his car raced up the runway Eddie coming had to make a public announcement late in the first period reminding the absent minded what he'd better get down and out off."

Frankie back hurt his left hand stoppi practice shot before the game it was nothing serious . . . Key Ion got his usual greet when he was announced a wice—a blast of boohing thralled the greeting the gathering the Bruins when they salus the ice.

After all tidies about the famous $40,000 the old clocks again served right . . . in experimenting the controls of the new mipse some-body blew a fuse but everything out of commin, they hope to have it running tomorrow night.

MR. BOSTON SAYS:

and later events proved it was sufficient to see the victory.

Up to this point in the contest the Bruins wall the edges, but Turk Broda was knocking off their surge. When Hollett received the pass from Reardon, Broda thoughlash was also going to pass. Hollett hesitated for the slight fraction of a second and, while Broda was doing some mad calculations, the Bruins' star sent the puck whizzing into beage.

This set off a wild demonstration. Mrs. Leslie Hard of Belmont, who attended the game with her husband, was ed near me, and she reflected the enthusiasm that swept rampant thugh the Garden when she jumped to her feet and joined in the gnd merry-making. Mrs. Barnard, like thousands of other women, is a keen enthusiast.

Reardon and Wiseman later scored additional goals for the Bruins, but these markers were unnecessary, as the Maple La lacked a scoring punch.

Blackhawks, Red Wings Win

CHICAGO, March 21 (AP)—Chicago's Blackhawks, fifth in the National Hockey League race, opened their Stanley Cup playoff series with the Montreal Canadiens here by taking a rough 2 to 1 battle.

Max Bentley got the deciding goal in the first of the Class C series, striking from in close after help from Brother Doug and Mush March.

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings pushed the New York Rangers Stanley Cup defending champions to the brink of elimination from the National Hockey League playoffs by winning, 2 to 1, in sudden death overtime play before 1488 spectators. Syd Howe, Detroit's high scoring winger, broke up the game at 12:01 of the overtime period.

58 Jim Turner's Play Impresses M'Kechnie

EVING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1941

By the Associated Press

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 20—No one among the Cleveland Indians is particularly concerned by Bob Feller's being charged with three straight defeats in exhibition games.

His wildness has been the chief cause, but he has been allowed to condition himself in his own way and hasn't started to bear down. He gave up four hits and three passes in three innings to lose to St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1, yesterday.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—The Chicago White Sox lost to the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, but you would never guess it from the smiling countenance of Manager Jimmy Dykes. The reason for his good cheer was a physician's report that John Rigney, his star pitcher, had a perforated right ear drum which probably would exclude him from the Army draft.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Manager Bill Southworth expects First Baseman Johnny Mize to get into the St. Louis Cardinals' lineup tomorrow or Sunday. Mize was a holdout until last Sunday night, but has rounded into shape fast this week.

TAMPA, Fla.—Doean Bill McKeechie of the Cincinnati Reds never misses an opportunity to point a moral. Following 36-year-old Jim Turner's fine pitching in the 1-0 victory over the New York Giants yesterday, the champions' manager declared:

"That fellow looks like he will be good for four or five more years. Turner is a splendid example of an athlete who adheres strictly to training rules. He is always in condition and it sure pays dividends."

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers are being slowed up, literally, by a series of sprained ankles. Shortstops Dick Bartell and Eric McNair, along with rookie outfielder, Bob Patrick, are limping around camp. McNair was hurt the first day of training and the others this week.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Doc Prothro of the Phillies, who was reported considering trading a promising young pitcher for a better to bolster his weak batting order, was feeling today that he might escape such an emergency operation. After being held scoreless for 19 innings, the Phils tallied 20 runs on 17 hits against Rochester yesterday.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers already is in good voice for the National League campaign. He coached at first base against Detroit yesterday, but his remarks from the bench were more to the point. Once when Dolph Camilli juggled a throw he shouted, "Take that glove to the dining room with you tonight. Tell 'em to put a little syrup on it."

LOS ANGELES—Claude Passeau wants to pitch the season's opener for the Chicago Cubs against Pittsburgh. He made a good bid for the job by holding the Pirates to two hits and no walks in five innings yesterday in an exhibition which the Cubs won, 9-2.

SAN BENITO, Tex.—Manager Casey Stengel of the Boston Bees is getting panicky about the weather. His team has loafed for four days with no exercise more strenuous than eating three square meals a day. The Bees were down for a double-header today against San Antonio and Toledo, but regardless of the weather he said he would give his players some sort of a workout.

Dempsey Wins In One Round On $900 Suit

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 21

(AP)—Jack Dempsey, one-time heavyweight boxing champion, scored a "technical knockout" today when Supreme Court Justice John C. Wheeler ruled him winner of a $900 lawsuit on legal grounds.

The jurist dismissed the suit, brought by David O'Connor, after Dempsey's attorney, Arthur F. Driscoll, presented a motion setting forth that O'Connor had failed to prove facts sufficient to constitute cause for action.

O'Connor was suing for $900 he claimed was the value of a roll of film he sent Dempsey, purportedly showing the workings of a floor-model punching bag.

Chapman, Golfer, Appeals Draft Ruling

GREENWICH, Ct., March 21 (AP)—Richard D. Chapman, national amateur golf champion, has filed an appeal on medical grounds from his selective service classification of 1A.

The Greenwich draft board upheld his original classification last night and referred Chapman's appeal to the Fairfield County Selective Service Appeals Board, after hearing a medical report on him.

BABE ILL—The mystery of the whereabouts of Gordon "Babe" Phelps, beefy catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been solved at last. Missing from the Dodgers' training camp since it opened this winter, Babe was discovered at his Odenton, Md., home where he is undergoing treatment for sinus trouble. The Babe said he started for camp, got as far as Miami and then turned homeward when he became ill. Mrs. Phelps aids the Babe with an atomizer while Phelps relaxes under a sun lamp.

Led by Leslie Pawson, winner a year ago, and Johnny Kelly, distance runners will start the 20-mile run plotted out annually for the past ten years by the North Medford Club, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

These two well known stars will be wearing the numbers 1 and 2, the defending champ getting the honor number, but they may not finish in that order. Among the large group of hardy pavement pounders will be some of the best from all parts of the East.

Another marathon star and a Medford winner, Gerard Cole of Canada, has entered.

Paul Donato, Johnny Semple, Andy Brunelle and Frank Darrah are other top favorites in the long runs who will compete. The course starts at the Roberts Junior High, goes through the Fells, back to Malden gap, then into Medford, Somerville, back into Medford, winding up at the same spot they started.

Dog Racing Bill Up Before R. I. Solons

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21—A bill to legalize dog racing in Rhode Island has been filed in the Legislature. The sponsors of the bill refuse to state who their backers are, but it was reported here today that the dog racing bill has the support of persons who have been interested in the greyhound game in Massachusetts.

Leading Rhode Island newspapers and civic interests indicated they would oppose the bill. President James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park stated he did not have any more information about the dog racing bill in addition to what he had read in the newspapers. It was believed here that Narragansett Park would not approve of a bill that would bring dog racing to this state.

Beggars Avenue Defeat of France

King of the beggars, sitting on his throne surrounded by criminals . . . THE BEGGARS OF PARIS have been famous—outrageous, as you wish—long before the poet Francois Villon immortalized them with his pen.

Now, with Paris a city of tragedy under the conqueror's heel, the beggars again have banded together, this time to aid France by sabotaging German rule of their beloved city.

Jacques Lermant, noted Paris journalist, has written an authentic and vivid account of this ragged regiment of avengers, revealing how Paris' underworld is co-operating with British agents, using every skill to defeat the German Gestapo.

His article, as fascinating as it is timely, appears in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with the next Sunday Advertiser.

VOODOO . . . The word strikes fear into the hearts of superstitious West Indians.

Voodoo . . . What is it really? What are some of the weird methods used by Indian high priests of black magic, to bring peace to the tortured spirits of natives under the Voodoo spell?

Albert C. Hicks, well-known explorer and world-traveler tells you in his special article, written from first hand observation, "The Serpent Woman of Voodoo-Ridden Trinidad."

Two of the most famed skippers in the days of the old clipper ships, they were legends long before they died. Cap'n Dave Landers, himself a famous sea-character, tells you about them in "Sea-Devil Bully Waterman," also in The American Weekly this coming Sunday.

MRS. CHRISTINE FREDERICK, the authority on household efficiency, discloses how you can keep your family healthy by a judicious use of economical dried fruits.

Mary Lee Swan, cooking authority, presents her "Appetizing Menus for the Week" to save many a housewife the trouble of preparing one for herself . . . And you'll find recipes for "Rye Potato Bread," "Scotch Oat Bread" and "Olive Bread," among others, in the Housewife's Food Almanac.

This is but one of a score of selected features awaiting you in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with the next Sunday Advertiser.

A. A. U. TITLE BOITS DRAW MANY ENTRIES

America's top-ranking amateur boxers will soon be heading for Boston and the Garden where the big National A. A. U. Tournament will be staged on March 31, April 1 and 2.

According to Gene Driscoll, who is in charge of the tournament, every indication points to one of the largest lists of entries ever received for the championships in Boston.

To date 16 out of the 42 district associations have written Driscoll stating that they would have representation.

With such a large entry list it will be necessary to have three rings in operation the first day of the tournament, with the show getting under way early the afternoon of March 31. Only one ring will be used in the Garden the second and third nights. Classes will be brought down to 64 battlers for a total of 32 bouts on April 1, and to 32 bouts for the semi-finals and finals on April 2, for a total of 24 contests.

The rule change adopted at the National A. A. U. convention calls for bouts of two minutes duration in all classes of the National Championships up to the semifinals. The semifinal and final bouts will be the regulation three minutes. The Maine Ass'n's entry for A. A. U. will have one representative but he is a very worthy one, an exceptionally clever middleweight with plenty of punching power, Lawrence Gauthier of Rumford. Gauthier has eliminated all opponents in Maine competition.

Disqualify Two Army Boxers For Fighting

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 21 (AP)—Two game little fighters stood toe-to-toe in the Arkansas A. A. U. boxing tournament and slugged each other so effectively that another man automatically won the 126-pound open championship.

Harold White of Little Rock and Perry West of the 127th (Kansas) Field Artillery at Camp Robinson fought at close quarters for two and one-half rounds last night, finally opening cuts over each other's eyes.

Blood streamed over their faces and they were still firing away when the referee stopped the fight and disqualified both because of their condition.

Their disqualification automatically made O. D. Hightower of Clarksville the champion.

Six Killed

Both heavily loaded, two freight trains of the Southern Railway system collide head-on at Spartanburg, S. C. . . . killing six members of the crews. Here, the two wrecked locomotives, like stags locked in a death struggle, are viewed by spectators. Another of a series of railroad wrecks during the past fortnight, this crash is being investigated . . . as a possible terrorist job of saboteurs.
